MR. W. G. McADOO, who remains in the race for President, as his friends expected him to do, says that he would have received from Mr. Doheny a fee of one million dollars had he succeeded in carrying through certain legal work in Mexico.

Mr. McAdoo says that such a fee, with hundreds of millions involved, is not excessive. It is, proportionately, not big. If a lawyer saved you two or three hundred dollars, you would gladly pay him one dollar. In proportion to amounts involved big fees are smaller than little ones, and big fees are actually paid, apart from any political influence.

MRS. RUSSELL SAGE, who used her husband's many millions to establish a philanthropic organization, paid one lawyer $250,000, merely for reading through one paper, and giving his opinion "That document is all right."

His opinion was worth that amount. It happened that this lawyer had been a member of Theodore Roosevelt's Cabinet, but that had nothing to do with Mrs. Sage hiring him.

BIGGER FEES than one million are not unknown. Ask that able young lawyer, Mr. Levy, of Stanchfield & Levy, how much his firm got as a fee in the Marshall Field will case, and if he cares to give the figures you will learn that it was several times one million dollars.

GREAT BRITAIN has more than 150 ships engaged in American rum running. The number has doubled in three months, and far exceeds in number and profits the pirates that swept the seas in ancient days.

The owners of these ships become rich in a few months and work without danger. Their business is legal in Great Britain, and they are safe from attack by American boats while they keep 12 miles away from our coast.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE asks thirteen millions for the coast guard to deal with smugglers. The authorities intercept five per cent. of the whiskey now. Spending ten millions more they might intercept seven per cent. of it. They can't stop it. Smuggling cocaine and other drugs is a part of rum running.

The questions are: What is this government going to do about it? And how long will the public be content to let things drift?

FRANK McDOWELL, who killed his two sisters, and a little later murdered his father and his mother, tells reporters "that he has tried to lead a perfect life, but has found it impossible." That reminds you of some European nations since the armistice.

WITH a public debt amounting to four hundred and thirty thousand million francs, just forty-six times the amount of money that Bismarck took from France after 1870, the French people, face to face with

SEIZE 2 AS BLACKHAND PLOTTERS

Third Man Escapes as Police Swoop Down on the Rendezvous

Two men were captured and a third escaped in what the police say is a Black Hand plot which culminated when the men held a rendezvous with their victim on Prattle street, near Scollay square.

The victim of the alleged plot was Dominico Negleo of Cottage street, East Boston. The two men under arrest gave their names as Luigi De Prisco, Chelsea street, and Frank Scapa, Cottage street, both East Boston.

In the pocket of one of the alleged blackhanders was found Negleo's watch, which he gave the trio Sunday night in lieu of money, when they held him up and threatened to cut off his head.

Negleo was on his way home Sunday when the three men rushed him. They demanded money and threatened his life.

Badly frightened, he said he had no money, but offered his watch for security and told the men he would give them the money at the same place last night.

When the three men and Negleo appeared Patrolmen Adams and Owens, in hiding nearby, with drawn revolvers, captured two. The other suspect fled.

Teaches Pupils to Walk on Flag, Loses Position

Watertown, N. Y., Feb. 26.—E. H. Harris, principal of the Pierrepont Manor School, who last January attempted to teach the pupils of the school respect for the American flag by laying it on the floor and having each walk on it, has resigned as the result of protests of the practice of the school.

BOY WAVERS AS HE DECIDES ON FATHER

Thirteen-Year-Old Forced to Choose as Parents Wrangle in the Court

If a "feller" ever needed a friend it was thirteen-year-old Sammy Walker of No. 35 Glendale street, Everett, when he appeared on the witness stand in Middlesex Probate Court today.

"Whom do you prefer to live with—your father or your mother?" asked one of the lawyers.

Sammy's eyes filled with tears and his glance wavered between one parent and the other. Finally, he nodded faintly in the direction of his father.

The ordeal to which the lad was subjected was in the separate support suit of Mrs. Walker against Samuel, Sr.

In defence Walker, Sr., said he never took more than a drink or two. The court took the matter under advisement.

SIKI HURLS SELF FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Havana, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.)—The authorities today were investigating the action of Battling Siki, the Senegalese boxer, in throwing himself out of the second-story window of his hotel here. He was uninjured. Siki had been ill with a fever and cold for several days and had been confined to his room.

Battling Siki

When Siki landed, he quickly picked himself up and ran down the street, shouting he was Siki, "the great battler."

A crowd of young Cubans placated him and he was taken to his room and given medical treatment.

SECOND VICTIM OF NORTH END GAS DEAD

Death claimed the second gas victim in a tenement at No. 45 Cross street, North End, when fifteen-months-old Anna Mommitt, one of five found unconscious yesterday, died today at the Relief Hospital. The first victim was Anthony Cartowick, a lodger. Little Anna's mother, father and brother and another lodger were also found unconscious. They are still at the hospital.

BIG STORM DUE HERE TONIGHT

Worst Blizzard of Winter Is Reported Heading Up Coast and Gaining in Fury

What is predicted as "the worst storm of the Winter," a northeast snowstorm now moving northward from Alabama and increasing in intensity, will descend with gale force on Boston tonight, the Weather Bureau warns.

A rapid drop in temperature, probably to far below freezing, will accompany the expected blizzard.

Storm warnings are on display along the entire Atlantic seaboard, from Jacksonville and Cedar Key, Fla., to Boston.

During the early hours of today the severe storm, with a northeast wind of high velocity, moved rapidly northward and from all indications Boston's present blanket of snow and ice will be added to by many inches.

FIND 'L' MOTORMAN GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Alexander Bailey of Walnut street, West Somerville, Boston Elevated motorman, charged with assault and battery on John J. "Mickey" Lynch of Hinckley street, Somerville, was found guilty today. Judge Sturtevant, cautioning Bailey not to "lose his head," placed the case on file.

The attack was the outcome of an argument in Magoun square a week ago. Lynch, it was alleged, rocked his automobile truck on the car tracks. An argument followed, and Bailey, according to witnesses, kicked Lynch.

25 ESCAPE BACK BAY BLAZE

Trapped on the top floors of a four-story apartment house at No. 134 Huntington avenue, Back Bay, when flames shot up through an elevator shaft and mushroomed at the third floor, half a dozen families narrowly escaped death early today.

Mrs. H. Hallett, an aged woman who occupied a third floor apartment, was carried from the building by firemen, while the family of Thomas Slaven, occupying the fourth floor, fought its way through smoke and flames with difficulty. Slaven's left hand was badly cut in assisting his wife and ten-year-old son to safety.

The fire originated in the basement and the open shaft of a dumb-waiter system gave it an excellent draft. A New Haven yard crew in the Exeter street yard saw the flames shooting from third story windows and sounded the alarm.

There were twenty-five persons in the house.

When Ladder Company 15 arrived, ladders were run to the third floor and Ladderman Daniel O'Leary broke through a window and groping his way through the smoke, found Mrs. Hallet. She was overcome by the smoke and the fireman carried her to safety.

BATTLE FIRE TWO HOURS.

On the floor above, the Slavens, who only moved into the apartment a few days ago, were not aroused until the fire had gained considerable headway. They were unfamiliar with the corridors and fire escapes of the building.

It was ten minutes before the fireman, leading his son in his arms, and leading his wife at his side, staggered to the street.

"Sheik," the pet cat of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burke, was trapped in the flames, but finally escaped badly singed.

Dr. Sweeney of Huntington avenue was on hand and he dressed the cat's burns.

The fire was confined to the third and fourth floor apartments, but the firemen had a tough two-hour battle before the flames were finally extinguished with a loss of $10,000.

All the residents of the apartment house were driven into the street in scanty attire. They sought refuge in a nearby lunchroom and later were

SURRENDERS CHILD TO FOSTER MOTHER

INEZ COLEMAN

Mother unable to support baby agrees to sign papers transferring little one to Mrs. Ambrose Pangan of Charlestown.

AGREES TO LET FOSTER MOTHER ADOPT "WAIF"

The prayers of a foster mother to be allowed legally to adopt a baby that had been left in her care were answered through the agency of the American.

Mrs. Ambrose Panganeban of No. 62 Corey street, Charlestown, in whose possession the child, Dorothy, nine months old, had been left, needed the consent of the mother of the child before she could legally adopt her. But, not knowing the identity of the mother or her whereabouts, Mrs. Panganeban appealed to the American to find her.

Today the American informed Mrs. Panganeban of the name and address of the baby's mother and paved the way to the legal adoption of the child. And the baby will proceed to be placed in the custody of the State, as had been feared.

The American learned from Mrs.

MESSAGES TO M'LEAN IN CODE

Probers Find the Wires Were Kept Hot, Sending Developments to Palm Beach

Washington, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.)—A sweeping investigation of the use of "political influence" in the prosecution of claims against the government was ordered this afternoon by the Senate. The departments named were the Treasury, State, Interior, Navy, War and Shipping Board.

Washington, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.)—Digging deeper into the oil scandal, members of the Senate Investigating Committee developed today that there was an almost constant stream of telegrams between Washington and Palm Beach last December, when the most sensational aspects of the scandal were coming to light.

A number of the messages were found to be in code and the identity of the senders could not be ascertained, nor could the committee decipher them. E. B. McLean probably will be required to identify and translate these messages.

Albert B. Fall, ex-secretary of the Interior and McLean, wealthy Washington publisher, were kept constantly advised of what was happening in Washington, the committee found upon examination of files of Western Union telegrams, secured from the local office under protest.

The telegrams disclosed that political and personal friends of Fall and McLean had kept the latter advised of the minutest developments here and the "political wires" that were being pulled in the investigation.

SEARCH FOR TIPS SENT BY MEN ON INSIDE

READ IN SECRET.

The committee examined the Western Union files behind closed doors this morning for nearly two hours, and did not quite finish. Members of the committee said that more than a hundredth of the messages examined related to the oil scandal. Other messages dealt with McLean's private affairs, financial transactions, personal loans and instructions to his two newspapers, the Washington Post and the Cincinnati Enquirer.

McLEAN'S PRIVATE WIRE.

It developed that at about the time Senator Walsh went to Palm Beach to question McLean about the $100,000 loan to ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, McLean installed a leased wire from his home to his two papers. After that time the committee found only a few telegrams to or from McLean.

The committee found no damaging telegrams that passed between Washington and Palm Beach for Walsh, it was declared. Telegrams to him were of a business nature or related to private affairs.

PHONE MEN CALLED.

To learn what member of the committee had talked with Fall at New Orleans on the long distance telephone at the time of Archie Roosevelt's testimony, Senator Walsh summoned officials of the local telephone company for questioning tomorrow.

After remaining behind closed doors for nearly two hours, the committee adjourned until tomorrow. It was explained examination of the telegrams had not been completed.

Senator Adams of Colorado and thus far the committee had found no telegrams sent by individual committeemen to either Fall or McLean.

Done with this phase of the investigation, which Democratic members of the committee regarded as particularly important in view of reports they have received that certain witnesses have been kept constantly informed of the progress of the inquiry, the committee will plunge into an examination of books of leading stock brokerage houses.

Lewis D. Bond, chief accountant for the committee in studying the brokerage books, has been in conference with Walsh during the last two days, and reported he will be ready to report to the committee in open session within a day or two, possibly tomorrow.

STACK RECORDS SENT.

Karl C. Schuyler of Denver, friend and personal attorney of J. Leo Stack, wealthy Denver oil man, who made an unsuccessful effort under the Wilson administration to secure a lease to the rich Wyoming reserve, was called to appear and bring records and documents which were described as "sensational."

The documents were expected to turn a spotlight on the million-dollar contract which Stack and Fred G. Bonfils, publisher of the Denver Post, obtained from Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome. Under that contract Sinclair has paid approximately $250,000 in cash to Bonfils and Stack, and has agreed to pay $750,000 additional on next March 15. Stack testified the contract was entered into to quiet claims on Teapot Dome.

The committee has definitely decided not to call Sinclair until the investigation of the stock books has been completed. They desire to ask him regarding the names of certain men found on the books are dealing in Sinclair stock.

Unless the committee goes further in an investigation of Mexican oil affairs, Senator Lenroot announced that he did not think it would be necessary to recall William G. McAdoo.

In view of the admission of Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty that he dealt in Sinclair stock, it was indicated that Daugherty may be asked to take the stand.

Under order from the White House, the special counsel, Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, plan to institute at once injunction proceedings to prevent further extraction of oil from the naval reserves. First action will be taken in Wyoming and California, where Teapot Dome and Elk Hills, respectively, are located, it was said.

Doheny Is Facing Criminal Trial Says Wheeler

Washington, Feb. 26 (Universal).—United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler, replying to Edward L. Doheny's charges that Wheeler had taken advantage of his Senatorial immunity to make false statements about him, said:

"The public will understand such utterances are merely the ravings of a man who, facing criminal prosecution for having bribed a government official, is endeavoring to distract attention from himself by attacking another."

Gift of $25,000 to "Hays" Under Fire

Washington, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.)—Senator Walsh of the public lands committee today ordered a subpoena issued for G. D. Wahlberg of New York, former private secretary to Harry F. Sinclair. The committee wants to question him about his previous testimony concerning giving $25,000 Liberty bonds to a man named "Hays."

DAUGHERTY AT WORK ON PLAN OF DEFENCE

Confident President Will Let Him Have His Day in Court

Washington, Feb. 26. — Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty expects to resign from the cabinet as soon as he has made his defense to the charges against him in the Senate.

This is the understanding that prevailed today among the attorney-general's friends and confidants.

He personally believes he can disprove every charge made by Senator Wheeler. Confident that President Coolidge is back of him, at least to the extent of not requesting his resignation until he had had his day in court, the attorney-general has begun the preparation of his defense.

There is reason to believe that this plan of Daugherty's has been discussed with President Coolidge and that it has his sanction, although the White House has been careful to observe almost complete silence as to the attorney general's status.

President Coolidge, prior to today's Cabinet meeting, had an hour's conference with Paul Howland of Cleveland, counsel selected for Attorney-General Daugherty in the House impeachment proceedings a year ago.

White House and Department of Justice officials declined to discuss the conference. Attorney General Daugherty, on arriving at the executive offices for the Cabinet meeting, waved aside a question on the subject.

The Wheeler resolution, proposing a Senatorial investigation into Daugherty's conduct of the Department of Justice, was blocked today by Senators Lodge and Moses. The Attorney General has advised his friends in the Senate to vote for it, and assured them that the Department of Justice forever was in better shape to stand an investigation than right now.

WITH HER debt piled so high, and her annual expenses nearly twenty billions above her income, France has almost ended the possibility of running the government by borrowing, and has before her the choice—cutting down expenses, and increasing taxation heavily, or entering the final stage of bankruptcy through which Germany has just passed, by printing paper money until it becomes worthless.

Many Frenchmen look to Briand or to Clemenceau, eighty years old, to help France in this crisis. Militarism has proved a failure.

DURING THE strike in England hothouse strawberries were sent by registered mail and sold at wholesale at seventy-five cents an ounce. Those that needed them were not deprived of an important necessity.

AROUND PLANT CITY, near Tampa, Fla., there are thousands of acres of strawberries which you can buy where they are grown at most reasonable prices today. But the problem of distributing them, without any strike here, is almost as difficult as in England, with a strike on.

EXPENSIVE distribution, freight or express, and the multiplied middlemen's profits, are the curse of producers and consumers in this country.

Not far from the fields of strawberries, in the wonderful citrus fruit region of the Florida west coast, this writer saw, on Sunday last, tons of oranges and grape fruit thrown in the fields to rot. They were so-called "culls," not quite perfect, but ripe and nutritious. That pile of wasted fruit would have benefited thousands of children that lack vitamines in the North. But "it doesn't pay" to transport them, and what doesn't pay, we do not do in this enlightened, efficient republic.

WAR AND KILLING are not profitable. The winner today is loser tomorrow. This applies to wars between nations, inside of nations, and fights between individuals.

In Bulgaria the King, his court and ministers seized the leader of the peasants, after hunting him through the forest, and put him to death. Now, according to Reuter's, the Bulgarian King, Boris, is locked up somewhere in the country, his ministers have been murdered, and a republic replaces the monarchy.

ROXBURY MAN IS REPORTED MISSING

The police are searching for John H. Clark, thirty-one years old, No. 2 Motley street, Roxbury, who disappeared from home last Saturday. He departed supposedly to find a job in a Boston restaurant. After Clark had given his wife discovered he had left all his identification cards at home. He was apparently happy when he left and kissed his four children, Genevieve, seven; John, four; Robert, three, and Albert, four months old.

Clark, who is five feet nine inches tall, weighs about 160 pounds. He wore large rimmed glasses, a blue serge suit, dark brown overcoat, brown soft hat and overshoes. He has a large scar on his right wrist. His parents, who live at No. 37 Leon street, Roxbury, are at a loss to explain his disappearance.

BIRD CONFERENCE HERE MARCH 11TH

The annual conference on migratory birds will be held in the auditorium of the State House March 11 at 10 a. m., under the auspices of the Division of Fisheries and Game, Department of Conservation.

A number of subjects of importance to sportsmen will be taken up and the public is invited to attend. In the evening the Massachusetts Audubon Society will serve a dinner, at which T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, will speak. Tickets may be obtained at the office of the Fish and Game Association, Tremont Building, Boston.

REARRESTED AFTER RUM CONVICTION

Somersworth, N. H., Feb. 26.—Henry Routhier, No. 33 Union street, had no more than reached his home after the Municipal Court here had convicted him on a second charge of illegal possession of liquor, when a Federal dry agent arrested him on a third charge of possessing liquor unlawfully.

The agent noticed Mrs. Routhier pouring something into the sink. He rescued in and salvaged a small quantity of the liquid.

New York, Feb. 26.—Two holdup men entered the Bronx apartment of Harry Kahn, bound him with a pair of portieres and ransacked the place, stealing, according to Kahn, $11,500 worth of jewelry and $525 in cash. Kahn is an executive in the Bullet Proof Vest Corporation.

TO ADOPT BABY

Victoria Melanson of No. 975 Canterbury street, Roslindale, who had formerly boarded the child, that the mother is Mrs. Inez Coleman, a twenty-one-year-old widow, who resides with the family of C. Wolfe at No. 23 Florence avenue, Revere.

Baby Dorothy. Mrs. Panganeban.

Mrs. Panganeban first secured possession of the child when she answered an advertisement in the American offering a child for adoption. The mother left the baby at the Panganeban home and promised to return to make final arrangements for its adoption. She did not, however, reappear, and Mrs. Panganeban, contemplating a trip to the Philippines, frantically sought to find the mother so that she could adopt the child and take her with her on the journey.

CANNOT SUPPORT CHILD.

Mrs. Coleman, the little waif's mother, seen at the home of the Wolfes in Revere, announced that she contemplated signing the adoption papers tomorrow. She explained that she was forced to give up her child because she has no relatives to aid her and is unable to earn enough to rear it properly. Her husband died a year ago, she said.

"I hate to part with my child," the mother said. "But I can cheerfully give her to Mrs. Panganeban, as I know she will then be in good hands."

Asks Greene Shooting Probe

Washington, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.)—An investigation by the Senate of the shooting of Senator Frank L. Greene, Republican, Vermont, who was wounded during a pistol battle between bootleggers and prohibition agents, was proposed today by his colleague, Senator Dale.

FOREIGN POLICY RISKED IN OIL DEALS

Actions of Fall and Sinclair Endangered U. S., Committee Is Told

Washington, Feb. 26.—In their race for great stakes, Albert B. Fall, Harry F. Sinclair and other adventurers in oil, plunged this country to the verge of serious diplomatic complications that threatened to disrupt the cordial relations with other great nations of the world.

That charge, seriously made, is being fervently urged today by the Teapot Dome committee. Senator Dill of Washington has called upon the State Department to disclose all secret files relating to oil negotiations that may be revealed without jeopardizing diplomatic usages.

WORLD-WIDE CAMPAIGN.

Sinclair only a few years ago was a soda-water dispenser in a drug store. He is today one of the oil magnates of the world, competing for supremacy with Basile Zaharhart who has garnered for England the far flung field of liquid gold in the remote corners of the earth.

Sinclair has obtained a lease of 45,000,000 acres in Angola from the Portuguese government, perhaps the largest oil concession in history, containing as favorable possibilities as the combined gushers of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. He owns a couple of million acres of oil lands in Central America. He holds concessions in the northern part of Sakahalin Island. He is said to have other enormous grants from the British in Mesopotamia and from the Portuguese in West Africa.

How Sinclair took Fall with him to Russia, paying him $25,000 and $10,000 for expenses, has been written into the Teapot Dome evidence. They were the guests of royalty in London and other capitals of Europe. Archie Roosevelt, an employe was sent abroad by Sinclair to explore the possibility of obtaining grants from foreign governments.

The name of Roosevelt would be expected to hold enormous intrinsic, as well as material values abroad.

Fall was a retired cabinet officer known to be on the most intimate terms with the American administration. Senator Dill is anxious to know whether Messrs. Sinclair, Fall and Roosevelt took with them letters of introduction from President Harding's administration which they may have used to establish at least a semi-official status for themselves abroad.

CONSULS ENRAGED.

Foreign consuls of this country are enraged by the exposure of the steady stream of adventurers from this country seeking wealth and concessions abroad. The files of the State Department are said to be replete with protests of the consuls who say their own status is reduced to ignominy and the rating of America, impaired by the Versailles Treaty, is sunk to a lower level by the gentlemen of fortunes and concessions-hunters who create the impression that the money-god rules this country.

The impression quite generally exists, they complain, that this government's concern rest primarily in promoting the welware of international gold-diggers.

This impression has been stimulated by Secretary Hughes' insistence that Russia must not be recognized until she pays the debts to American corporations and by the newest plea for liberalty for Japanese immigration which is suggested to have been built upon the fear that Japan may be cancelled $200,000,000 of contracts held there by American firms.

DESTITUTE WIFE SEEKING HUSBAND

With herself and three children destitute, ordered by her landlord to move, Mrs. Eugene Gerrier, of No. 630 Canterbury street, Roslindale, has asked for aid in locating her husband, Eugene.

He disappeared a month ago, and may be plying his trade as locater. He is thirty-four years old, 5 feet, 6 inches tall, weighs about 140 pounds, and is of light complexion.

FAVORS DIVORCE FOR WIFE OF MERCHANT

New York, Feb. 26.—Recommendation that an interlocutory decree of divorce be granted to Mrs. Marjorie Reakirt Hecht against Rudolf Hecht, president of a trading and financial corporation, was rendered in a supreme court decision today. The former family lived in Cincinnati, where they were said to have been prominent socially.

CALLS INSURANCE PLAN HOLD UP

Outside interests alleged to be attempting to legalize reciprocal insurance in Massachusetts are adopting the "tactics of highwaymen," Claude L. Allen told the Legislative Committee on Insurance today. Appearing for the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, he characterized the big insurance companies of this State as cowardly in standing for the "holdup."

Fire Fighting Youths Flee With $49 in Woman's Shop

Hereafter when Mrs. Josephine Rimini is visited by an uninvited fire in her lunch room at No. 188 Orleans street, East Boston, she's going to give the business to regular firemen.

The fire started in a kettle of fat in the kitchen, and Mrs. Rimini ran out to the street in search of aid.

Three young men passing volunteered their services. With mops and brooms they tipped the kettle of fat off the stove and extinguished the blaze, with approximately $20 worth of damage.

Meanwhile someone telephoned the fire department.

Refugee Claims To Be Daughter of Slain Czar

Moscow, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.).—A woman claiming to be Princess Anastasia, daughter of the former czar of Russia, appeared today at a monastery at Mikola Polenkskeray, province of Koyrsk, and told a dramatic story of how she had escaped from Siberia.

Her face bore a remarkable resemblance to that of Princess Anastasia, but after the monks had conducted a searching investigation her story was proved untrue.

The imposter described graphically how she had escaped when her father, mother, brother and sisters were put to death in the dead of night. Later she said she was held a captive in Siberia by the bolsheviks and crossed the Ural mountains after devastating hardships.

Arrest Spoils Race Fan's Chance to Win $1,900 on Horse

He visited the racetrack with a hot tip and $300, and was making his way to the betting ring when intercepted by Deputy Sheriff Stakelum on a forgery charge.

"Let me make one bet on this race," pleaded Esparro, casting a frantic eye toward where the bookies were offering five to one against John T. D.

"I've got a straight tip and I want to put $380 on his nose." The deputy took the $380.

BOARDER SLASHED, BLAMES LANDLADY

Mrs. Jennie Vandolo of No. 24 Horace street, Somerville, was before Judge Sturtevant in Somerville today charged with assault and battery on a boarder, John Dellano. She pleaded not guilty and the case was continued. Dellano exhibited a ten-inch gash on his cheek, alleged to have been made by a razor wielded by Mrs. Vandolo.

LIQUOR SEIZED ON LINER ADRIATIC

British Officials Mystified by Action of U. S. Authorities Friday Night

London, Feb. 26.—Much interest is manifest by government and steamship officials over the seizure by American authorities of 136 cases of liquor on the liner Adriatic.

It is recognized the confiscation is legal and legitimate, in view of the fact that the liquor treaty between the two countries has not yet been ratified, and the British government has no intention of protesting, as it would have done had the seizure been made outside the three-mile limit.

But British shipping officials are puzzled to know what special act of circumstances prompted the American authorities to make a seizure in this specific case, in view of the known fact that the British transatlantic liners have been allowed for some time to bring in alcoholic stores under seal pending action on the treaty.

New York, Feb. 26.—Customs officials today revealed that liquor had been seized aboard the Adriatic last Friday night.

Special Agent Estabrook of the Treasury Department said but eighty-five cases were seized.

"The eighty-five cases were the number the Adriatic had in stock in excess of the amount alloted her under the permit granted by the public health branch of the Immigration Department," he said.

"Adriatic officers protested our removal of the liquor. So we asked the public health doctors again to make certain we were acting up to regulations. They verified the permit."

MINISTERS COME OUT FOR DALLINGER

Ministers headed by the Rev. John F. Brant of Newtonville are organizing to push the candidacy of Congressman W. W. Dallinger of Cambridge for the U. S. Senate.

Pastor Brant, in urging Dallinger said:

"Here is a man who stands unshaken for law and order, in fact, all during his career in Washington he has proved himself a man worthy of promotion, as he has stood valiantly for the highest interests of every community where he has lived."

LIQUOR STILL FOUND JUST UNDER COURT

Winchendon, Feb. 26.—Going full blast, with a woman in charge, a fifty-gallon still was discovered by the police just nine feet below the judge's bench of the First District Court, when they raided the front store of Solomon Joseph, located on the first floor of the court house. Judge Sidney W. Armstrong caught the peculiar odor of mush while presiding at a civil session and gave the tip upon which the raid was made.

TRAFFIC OFFICER ESCAPES DEATH

Traffic Officer Timothy F. McCarthy, on duty in Malden square, narrowly escaped death under the wheels of an Elevated car. The officer, after giving the signal to pass, turned to point a direction to a woman. The car knocked him from his feet. McCarthy put out his hand to prevent going under the car and the hand was caught on the lower truck and severely injured.

GIRL PSYCHIC "SOLVES" STRANGE KILLING OF LOUISE LAWSON

'SLAIN BY TWO HIRED ASSASSINS'

Declares Prominent Clubman Was Jealous of Younger Suitor

New York, Feb. 26.—Miss Eugenie Dennis, eighteen-year-old psychic marvel from Kansas, who is in New York to undergo tests before the country's leading scientists, has tried her hand at solving the mystery surrounding the Louise Lawson murder.

In her rooms in her hotel, just off Broadway, the brown-eyed girl who has all New York talking, declared that Miss Lawson was murdered in her apartment by two thugs, hired by a wealthy and prominent clubman, aged somewhere in the fifties, who was jealous of another and younger wooer of the beautiful Broadway butterfly.

VICTIM OF JEALOUSY.

Her eyes narrowed until they were mere slits as she concentrated on the murder mystery. She declared the middle-aged suitor had lavished money and jewels on the Lawson girl. Of an erratic disposition, he became insanely jealous of the younger man.

This young man, described by the seeress as being about thirty-eight, dark and of rich social standing, is blameless, although he has been accused in connection with the crime.

Louise Lawson was not murdered for her jewels, the girlpsychic declared. The gems were taken to disguise the motive.

Miss Dennis said she could see a ship, and that the elderly man had made plans since the murder to go abroad.

She could not get names, the girl said.

CANT EXPLAIN POWER.

In a moment, her brown eyes resumed the expression of a laughing girl, she took a spirited step or two about the room and said she hadn't the slightest idea how she knew these things, but that she just knew them.

She'd been just knowing things since she was two years old, and ever since she was twelve she'd been helping people find things or solve problems.

She was dressed in Bronxy fashion, and might have a man before unlinked her arm from a comfy chum's.

She had to leave high school in her junior year, because her teachers and schoolmates would give her no peace, fearing she discovered the power given her to find lost articles, she said.

Miss Dennis came to New York at the instigation of the psychological department of Columbia University, and if the experts are unable to get at the bottom of what is heralded as her superhuman gift she will be sent to France, it was announced today.

"I do not believe in spirits," she declared, "and ghosts and all that Sir Oliver Lodge stuff doesn't appeal to me. When you are in the room I can read your thoughts; when you leave I can't remember a thing about it."

BANDITS FLEE WITH BIG SAFE AND $15,000

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Six squads of detectives armed with rifles and shotguns sped to the southwestern city limits today in search of five bandits reported to have broken into the State Bank of Kinsman, in Grundy County, and to have hauled away a safe containing more than $15,000.

The report of the robbery was given the Chicago police by Sheriff James Mack of La Salle County, who said he pursued the bandits several miles. The safe, he said, is four feet high and weighs 2,800 pounds.

Joke Is Funny Until Court Fines Perpetrator $75

In the words of O'Shea, the joke is on him—$75 worth.

O'Shea's full name is James F. O'Shea and he is thirty-four years old and full of fun. Also he is a laborer and a reader of fiction.

He lives at No. 67 Cross street, Malden, in a tenement above the Economy Grocery Store, managed by William J. Murphy.

O'Shea and Murphy are great pals and the former often drops down into the store for a coal.

He dropped down last night while Murphy was counting the day's receipts and stuffing the money into a paper bag. Watching him, O'Shea remarked casually:

"Anybody could hold you up easy enough."

"Yes, I think they could," Murphy assented.

THE JOKE BEGINS

Then the joke began. O'Shea reached over, lifted the bag of money from Murphy's hands and walked out of the store.

Murphy laughed and allowed that O'Shea certainly was a comical fellow. That was at 6.30.

But at 8.30 Murphy's laugh had weakened by stages until it had disappeared entirely. O'Shea hadn't come back and the joke didn't seem so funny.

Murphy let the police in on the joke and three policemen went hunting O'Shea. He was not in his apartment then but at 10.30 he returned and found them there.

"I only did it as a joke," explained O'Shea, waving the paper bag, still stuffed with money.

BAG $25 SHORT

"You'd better come over to the station and explain the joke, anyway," suggested the patrolman.

So O'Shea went to the station and explained how full of fun he was. His story was accepted and he was allowed to go home.

The police then notified Murphy at his home that the bag, containing $49, had been returned by O'Shea.

"Forty-nine," ejaculated Murphy. "There should be $74."

Forthwith the three patrolmen routed O'Shea out of bed and brought him to the station again. The joke was becoming annoying and O'Shea objected.

"A joke's a joke," he said, "and there was only $49 in that bag. I haven't touched the money."

THE COURT JOKES

"Well, just for a joke, why not stay here until court opens," suggested the police—and O'Shea stayed.

In court today Murphy testified that there was $74 in the bag. O'Shea insisted that it was a joke and there was only $49.

Judge Charles M. Bruce remarked: "It doesn't appear to me to be an awfully funny joke. I think I will have a little joke with you. You can make restitution. And just for another little joke, I will add $50 fine on top of it. How does that joke strike you?"

O'Shea grinned. "I guess the joke's on me, all right."

He has a week to raise the money.

DUNCAN AND LEWIS CALL ON COOLIDGE

Washington, Feb. 26.—James A. Duncan of Quincy, a vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, was a caller on President Coolidge at the White House today. He was accompanied by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America. Their visit caused speculation as to whether they might announce a decision to support the President for re-election.

2 LEADERS OF REVOLT ON TRIAL

Ludendorff and Hitler, With Eight Others, Face Death by Execution

Munich, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.).—Two fallen idols—General Erich Ludendorff, known during the great war as "the brains of the German army," and Adolf Hitler, leader of the Bavarian Fascisti—were placed on trial today charged with high treason for their part in the "beer cellar revolt" last November.

Ludendorff and Hitler are confident of vindication. Both love their country with almost fanatic ardor. Both served in the war—Ludendorff as chief of staff to Hindenburg and quartermaster general of the German army; Hitler as a simple soldier in the ranks. Yet both are charged with high treason, the penalty for which is death.

Gen. Ludendorff

BOTH SURE OF ACQUITTAL.

The attitude of each is that of accuser rather than defendant. Both hope to turn the tables upon those whom they accuse of "double crossing" them in the famous Fascisti uprising. Less than twelve hours' duration. There are eight other defendants.

The trial is being conducted in the peoples court. The presiding judge is Dr. Neibardt. His assessors are Dr. Leyendecker and Dr. Grimerding. In addition there are three lay judges—two merchants and an insurance agent. The chief prosecutor is Dr. Stenglein.

PREPARED FOR TROUBLE.

Overshadowing everything else is the fact that last night interrupted the trial. All persons wishing to enter the trial room were first taken into an anteChamber where they were searched for weapons.

The names of defendants are: Erich Ludendorff, county court judge, aged forty-three; Dr. Wilhelm Frick, Bavarian magistrate, aged forty-six; Dr. Friedrich Weber, veterinarian, aged thirty-three; Captain Ernest Roehm, soldier, aged forty-six; Lieutenant Colonel Herman Kriebel, soldier, aged forty-seven; Lieutenant Wilhelm Brueckner, soldier, aged twenty-nine; Lieutenant Robert Wagner, soldier, aged twenty-nine; Lieutenant Heinz Pernet, stepson of Ludendorff, aged twenty-six.

HELD AS ASSAILANT OF GIRL, KILLS SELF

Springfield, Vt., Feb. 26.—Myron Griffin of Pike, N. H., killed himself here today with an army rifle at the home of Ludwig Link. Griffin, who formerly lived in Gilsum, was an illiterate, $2,000 bonds furnished after he had pleaded not guilty in the Municipal Court to a charge of attacking his wife's fifteen-year-old sister, Helen Murray of Lisbon.

Griffin and his wife spent the night at Links' home. After Links had gone to work today Mrs. Link and Mrs. Griffin heard a shot and shortly afterward Griffin was found dead in the cellar.

Two other arrests have been made in the same case and three persons still are wanted.

INN KEEPER JAILED IN RUM CASE

Man Who Figured in Elopement Sentenced on Story Told by Sailor

Merrimac, Feb. 26.—George J. Christie, proprietor of the Monomack Inn, former actor and federal prohibition agent and principal in a sensational elopement last fall with an eighteen-year-old Merrimac telephone operator, was sentenced today to three months in jail by Judge Pettengill of Amesbury police court.

Christie's sentence was on the revocation of a suspension granted him last Fall following a liquor raid on the inn by Chief of Police James Donahue. The inn proprietor had just returned from Savannah, Ga., to where he eloped.

A story told the court today by Harold Odiorne, eighteen, of Locust street, a sailor absent without leave from the navy, resulted in Judge Pettengill revoking the suspension and imposing sentence on Christie.

The sailor was arraigned in Merrimac Court last Thursday on a burglary charge and the case was continued until today.

Today Odiorne told the court that he had been at the Monomack Inn for a week, and had tended bar and purchased liquor there. Chief Donahue then testified that he had seen men go into the inn sober and come out intoxicated.

After listening to testimony, Judge Pettengill imposed sentence on Christie. There is no appeal from sentence when it is imposed by revoking a former suspension.

At one time Christie was chief prohibition officer in Maine and New Hampshire. He also was a prohibition agent in Massachusetts and at one time a member of the Haverhill Police Department.

He eloped with eighteen-year-old Lena Ollis and married her in Savannah, nearly six months ago, after petitioning for an annument of a former marriage—said to be his third. The elopement caused a sensation in Merrimac, but the girl's parents received the couple and forgiven their return, although an abduction charge had been made against him.

POLICE BRIBED BY RUM GIFTS, IS CHARGE

Attleboro Official Asks for Investigation, but Mayor Declines

Attleboro, Feb. 26.—Mayor George A. Sweeney has declined to issue a call for an emergency meeting of the Municipal Council at the request of Chairman Harlan A. Allen of the Police Committee, following the latter's offer to present a resolution at such a meeting calling for an investigation of charges that the Police Department had received gifts of liquor at Christmas from bootleggers.

Mayor Sweeney's answer to Councilor Allen was that, in his opinion, no emergency existed which would require a special session of the Council. The Council holds its regular meeting Tuesday, March 4, and the committee on Police Department is expected to present its resolution at that time.

Street gossip that at least 18 quarts of liquor were received by the police on Christmas eve and distributed in the station among the 12 officers and Chief Flanagan is embodied in the resolution which Mr. Allen allowed Mayor Sweeny to read.

AGREEMENT ENDS BRADY WILL FIGHT

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26.—The suit for an accounting of the $75,000,000 estate of Anthony J. Brady was settled in Surrogate's Court today, when counsel for both parties to the proceeding filed an agreement and stipulation.

The suit was brought by two daughters, Mrs. Marcia Myers Brady Tokey and Mabel Brady Garvin against the executors an trustees of the will, James Cox Brady and Nicholas F. Brady, sons.

All monetary differences among the parties are to be referred to an arbitrator.

ASKS ALLIES TO HALT GERMAN WAR PLANS

Paris, Feb. 26 (A.P.).—The note from Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain to the Allied Council of Ambassadors regarding resumption of work by the International Military Control Mission in Germany has been referred to the International advisory military committee, presided over by Marshal Foch.

The note is understood to put the question on a basis that will permit a determined effort by the Allies to see that Germany obeys her warlike preparations, as is persistently alleged in Allied circles.

WALTHAM GIRL FOUND HURT; STORIES VARY

Catherine Jennings, Ribs Broken, Gives Conflicting Accounts of Her Experience

Miss Catherine Jennings, twenty-two, of No. 13 Castle street, Waltham, sustained injures which landed her in the Waltham Hospital today.

She was suffering from three broken ribs, bruises and shock.

To the Waltham police the girl told conflicting stories. She first said that she was attending a party in Vine court, near where she was found, and that she was thrown out of the party and sustained her injuries when she struck the pavement.

Later she said that she had been out automobiling with two men and that they had thrown her from the machine near where she was found.

DROP CASS PIRACY CHARGE

Ex-Fight Promoter, However, Must Face Similar Complaint Brought by British

Piracy charges pending in Federal Court against Ray Cass of Somerville, former Boston fight promoter, are to be dropped by the government.

It is understood however that Cass will be rearrested, on a warrant secured by the British Consul General, in Boston, under the extradition treaty.

It was agreed that the warrant would not be served until the United States case had been disposed of.

"Extradition proceedings will be strongly opposed." Attorney Daniel A. Shea, counsel for Cass declared.

"Mr. Cass will be somewhat handicapped in view of the fact that in international extradition proceedings, he is not entitled to face his accusers, as is the right and privilege of every person tried in the courts of the United States under local laws, by virtue of the constitutional rights."

"Thus is an American citizen and is the father of two small children, both of whom are citizens of this country."

The government alleged Cass and companions boarded the schooner J. Scott Hankinson, a reputed rum-runner, off Gloucester, and shot down he master, Captain Frank Moore.

The warrant on which he was arrested charges that he with others, "with force of arms, did piratically set on board and enter the schooner, and assault subjects of the King of England in the peace of the United States, and then stole money from Captain Moore."

Hub-Gotham Junior League Debate Comes In April, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE much-discussed debate which was to have taken place today at the Junior League's headquarters on Boylston street has been postponed until April 2.

So that it will be some time before a corps of leaguers from Gotham and Boston come together to decide whether or no "the Puritan influence is detrimental to development."

Sarah Winslow

Among the Boston members who will take part in the oratorical affair are Mrs. Charles K. Cobb, Jr., (Elsie Nichols), Mrs. Thomas Morse, Mrs. Evans Dick and Mrs. Harvey Bundy, as well as Miss Elizabeth White and Miss Sarah Winslow.

A host of condolences are making their way to No. 45 Commonwealth avenue, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Everett, Jr. (Clara Barnes).

For Mrs. Everett is sick in bed with the mumps, which most unpleasant ailment almost seems to be quite the vogue these days.

One of the daintiest brides of last June was Clara Barnes. The ceremony drew a notable throng down Hingham way, where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Barnes of Marlboro street, have their Summer home.

Miss Nina Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Underwood, made the trip across the Continent with the parents of her fiance. Mr. and Mrs. D. Hunter McAlpin of New York. They will return East about the 10th of March.

MRS. KEITH MERRILL (Katherine Ayer) of Pride's Crossing went over to Gotham for the reception which her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. James C. Ayer, gave at their Park avenue home.

The affair was given in honor of Miss Eleanor Porter, the fiancee of their son, Richard B. Ayer. The marriage of the young people will take place in June.

Mr. Merrill, who is now visiting in Palm Beach, is connected with the American Embassy in Madrid, so that Boston has seen little of the family the past few years. A hearty welcome awaited Mr. and Mrs. Merrill when they arrived at "Avalon," their Pride's Crossing estate, a few months ago. Since their return to these shores much entertaining has been done for them.

FATHER FIGHTS FOR CUSTODY OF BABIES

Now In Charge of Friend of Mother Who Lost Life In Fire

A court battle for the custody of two Malden children between their father and a woman friend of their mother looms as an aftermath of the tragic death of the mother in a fire at her home, No. 13 Sheafe street, Malden, recently.

The children are Joseph H. Halfacre, two years old, and Geneva Irene, four years old, now in the possession of Mrs. Elizabeth Wainwright of Malden, a close friend of the children's dead mother.

Following the death by fire of Mrs. Halfacre, Mrs. Wainwright took possession of the children and filed a petition in the Middlesex Probate Court for adoption of the children.

The father of the children, learning of Mrs. Wainwright's petition, announced through his attorney, John Higgins, that he will contest the petition.

In her petition, Mrs. Wainwright charges that Halfacre is not a fit person to care for the children.

Attorney Higgins declared that he had been engaged by Halfacre as counsel to fight any attempts on the part of any person to gain the custody of the children.

"I believe that the action will be dropped," said Attorney Higgins. "I am communicating with counsel for Mrs. Wainwright to determine what her purpose is in bringing the action."

OPEN SCHOOLS LATE IN SEPTEMBER

The Boston School Committee at its meeting decided on a late opening of the schools in September each year.

The opening will average about a week later than the present schedule but the exact date will vary one or two days from year to year.

The rule as adopted provides that the school year will open "on the second Tuesday after the first Monday of September." Under this arrangement the earliest possible opening would be on Sept. 9, and the latest possible opening would be on Sept. 15. The school year will run for 42 weeks and will end later in June than under the present schedule.

GARMENT WORKERS URGED TO STAND FIRM

"The outcome of the garment workers' strike will affect the entire industry throughout the country and the labor world is anxiously awaiting the result," Joseph Salerno told 2,000 strikers at Paine Memorial Hall.

Secretary Johnson of the Building Trades Council encouraged the strikers to continue and pledged support of the council. Sarah Hurwitz, business agent of the striking local, organized several meetings of the various factions. Miss Anna Thomas presided.

Lt.-Gov. Fuller Now at Another Epoch in Career; He's 46

Few men are twice elected to Congress, serve in the Legislature of their State and then as Lieutenant-Governor of the State—all while they are still well on the sunny side of the half-century mark.

Alvan T. Fuller.

He was born in Boston on February 27, 1878, and was educated in the public schools. He early saw the possibilities of the automotive industry and entered it with such success that today he is one of the leading figures in the automobile business in Boston. Send a card or letter of congratulation to Lieutenant-Governor Fuller at the State House.

DONATES $50,000 FOR NEW R. I. CHURCH

Providence, Feb. 26.—Fifty thousand dollars has been donated to the building fund of the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires, Woonsocket, by Theophile Guerin, president of Guerin Mills, Inc., according to an announcement made by the pastor, Rev. J. M. L. Giroux. The gift is made in memory of the father of the donor, Joseph Guerin, who died two years ago.

FORD NOT READY TO BUILD HERE

No plans have yet been perfected by the Ford Motor Company for building a plant here.

Dispatches from Detroit quoted John Crawford, in charge of new construction of the Ford Company, as saying:

"There has been a lot of newspaper talk about building a Ford plant in Boston, but we don't know yet if we will build there. It will be a long time from now, if at all."

GIRL DEFENDS DANCING A LA "ALLIGATOR"

Bobbed-Hair Miss Tells Judge There's "Nothing Wrong" in "Collegiate Step"

New York, Feb. 26.—The "Collegiate Step," the newest dance de guerre, which gets by at times in Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere, is engaging the attention of the sharp-shooters and snipers employed by New York dance hall proprietors to see that nothing too naughty goes in their emporiums.

The crusade against the dance had its sequel in Yorkville Court, when Charles Fassett, a floor manager at the Clover Gardens, was up on the charge of assaulting George Dominique, one of the patrons of the gardens.

Dominique said that he was one of sixty who protested when Fassett tried to stop 1,000 young folks from dancing the "Collegiate Step" and that he came out of the melee with his nose several inches to the starboard of its customary anchoring place.

The court asked for a description of the dance and Emil Newman, the proprietor of the Clover Gardens, said the objectionable feature included the couples jumping up and down, the partners kissing while the girl is perched on the knee of the young man and very much leaning back wards.

There was an audible gasp in the court room at this description.

"Why, your honor," chimed in Dorothy Brown, seventeen, bobbed and blonde, "there's nothing wrong with that dance. All it is is just shaking like an alligator."

The magistrate continued the case

$1,000,000 Profit Made on Sale of Hotel Belmont

New York, Feb. 26.—One million was the profit taken by the Interborough R. R. when they sold the Hotel Belmont, at Forty-second street and Park avenue, to William Zeigler, who will erect an office building on the site. The Belmont was built at a cost of $7,000,000, 18 years ago.

RECOMMENDED BY HER DOCTOR

Found Strength by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kankakee, Illinois.—"My mother-in-law always took your medicine for weakness, and then in the Change of Life it did her so much good that she induced me to take it for a weakness I had for a year and a half. It has strengthened me and now I have a nice baby boy. I do all my own housework now, and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I have the opportunity. I am taking it again for weakness, as my family doctor has recommended it for this purpose."—Mrs. HARRY COULOM, 884 North Harrison Ave., Kankakee, Illinois.

Real Evidence of Merit

For the relief of female weakness, pains and backache, nervousness and irregularities, with other troubles common to women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine.

Its worth is thoroughly established by such letters as the above. There are women everywhere, who, having received benefit, gladly tell other women about it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

A recent canvass reports 98 out of every 100 women are benefited by

OLD PARTNERS OF DUFFY PUT UNDER ARREST

Former Rum Running Associate of Slain Man to Be Questioned

Chicago, Feb. 26 (Universal)—The tangled threads in which the Underworld slaying of John Duffy and his bride of a fortnight was wrapped, are being unraveled.

In New Orleans, Orlando Horton and Morris Curtis, associates of Duffy in an extensive rum running business, were arrested with their wives.

RETURN WILLINGLY.

The frankness of Horton and Curtis in disclosing their identity and discussing their relations with Duffy, the authorities here admitted, were "somewhat disarming." They returned to Chicago willingly.

Both men were armed with big pistols, whose six inch barrels had been sawed off to short stubs.

"We bought them in a pawn shop in Louisville. We needed them in the business," said Horton, who admits his criminal part with a bravado air.

IN PARTNERSHIP.

"Sure, I knew Duffy. Lived with him and his wife in Chicago. We were rum-running together. It's the fastest way to make a living. There's thousands of fellows in Chicago that used to make $18 and $25 a week who are running liquor and driving their own cars now.

"Duffy was a devil to get along with, threatening to kill you every other minute," continued Horton. "He used to be a lightweight prize fighter in Philadelphia and after every drink he'd pet his fists fly, then pull out a gun.

"I told him I wanted to get out of the game for a while and come to New Orleans to play the races. He threatened to kill me if I did. So I left him on the quiet; didn't tell him good-bye."

MRS. VANDERBILT, SR. QUITS OLD CHURCH

New York, Feb. 26.—After attendance of more than half a century, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., has ceased Sunday worship at the fashionable St. Bartholomew's Protestant, Episcopal Church and has attended services at the equally fashionable St. Thomas's Church.

It is recalled that the Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks, rector of St. Bartholomew's, had aligned himself with the Modernists in the current doctrinal dispute, by issuing a challenge last December to Bishop Manning to try him for heresy because of his position on the doctrine of the Virgin birth.

MODEL OF LEVIATHAN GIVEN TO INSTITUTE

Washington, Feb. 26.—"Little Lev" a complete model of the liner Leviathan, seized during the war at the Hamburg-American offices in New York and later loaned to the United States Lines and Shipping Board for exhibition purposes, has been turned over to the Smithsonian Institution by the Allen Property Custodian.

The model is a perfect miniature of the liner, even down to the electric lighting system. It is 13½ feet long, with 23½ inch beam and three feet 10 inches depth from keel to the top of her funnels.

ORDERS "L" TO STOP PEABODY SQ. PARKING

City Councillor George F. Gilbody demands that the Boston Elevated stop making Peabody square, Ashmont, a "parking station" for cars. He introduced an order directing that the Elevated remove the cars at once. Business men, clergy and many others had complained about present conditions, which he said menaced children, as four or five had been killed by automobiles when they had run out from behind these parked street cars. The Council readily passed the order, which now goes to the State Public Utilities Commission.

BRITAIN LEADS IN IMMIGRANTS TO U. S.

New York, Feb. 26.—With the restrictive immigration law in force, Great Britain now leads in the number of home-makers coming to this country from Europe. Heretofore, Italy and Germany were far in the lead. In the past six months, immigrants from England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales totaled 149,567, almost 50 per cent greater than those from Germany.

$200,000,000 IN NEW CHURCHES IN YEAR

Cincinnati, Feb. 26.—More than $200,000,000 will be spent for church building in the United States during the present year, it was estimated at a conference of representatives of church boards of architecture. A campaign of education in regard to the requirements of modern houses of worship was decided upon.

Victim of Thieves

MARJORIE RAMBEAU

Thieves entered the apartment of Miss Marjorie Rambeau at No. 413 East 57th street, New York, and ransacked the apartment in Miss Rambeau's absence, evidently in search of jewels.

All the actress's valuables were in a safe deposit box at the bank she said, and the loss sustained was negligible, amounting to only a few hundred dollars at the most.

JURY DECIDES HUB BROKER IS BOY'S DAD

Former Brockton Dentist, Accused by Widow, Is Parent of Disputed Babe

Brockton, Feb. 26.—Found guilty by a Plymouth County jury of being the father of a handsome boy born out of wedlock, Dr. Winfield Scott Garland, once fashionable Brockton dentist, but now an investment broker in Boston, will come into court on Thursday to be held by Justice Albert E. Avery in what is expected to almost assume his parental responsibilities.

Dr. Garland, fifty years old, whose home is in Avon, was accused by Mrs. Eva M. Guay of centre street, Brockton. His wife sat beside him throughout the trial.

The boy, Paul, a flaxen-haired court with his mother.

Mrs. Guay, who acknowledges forty-three years, began the story of youngster with golden hair, came to her injured wrongs by telling of her first visit to the dentist's office in the Fall of 1918.

She identified the doctor took her to the Clifton House, Summerside, where he wrote upon the name of "Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scott."

MANY FIREMEN HURT IN QUEBEC BANK FIRE

Quebec, Feb. 26.—Several firemen were injured in a fire which partially destroyed the Union Bank building here today, causing a loss of $500,000. The loss was of undetermined origin.

WILLETT QUITS TRIAL FOR FIRE IN NORWOOD

A fire that destroyed the gymnasium, bowling alleys and Everett hall in the Norwood City Association building at Norwood caused the departure today of George F. Willett from the trial in Dedham court of his $15,000,000 suit against Robert P. Herrick and others.

Willett is chief counsel of the Norwood Civic Association, and when informed of the fire, he left immediately for Norwood.

The flames, starting in the centre section of the two-story wooden building, also took an annex and caused heavy damage.

CLOSE STRAITS OR MORE SHIPS

Rome, Feb. 26.—Russia's representatives in the League of Nations naval disarmament conference today demanded 490,000 tons of warcraft unless the Turkish straits (Bosphorus and Dardanelles) were closed and entrance to the Baltic forbidden to outside powers.

They also demanded return of former Russian ships held by the French. If these conditions are not met, the envoys said, Russia would be willing to reduce her tonnage to 250,000. That key was ordered to scrap three more ships.

OUTLINES PLOT OF BROOKLYN MURDER

New York, Feb. 26.—"Cheeks" Luciano, whose testimony helped convict Morris and Joseph Diamond and John Farina of first degree murder, testified today at the trial of Anthony Postano, the fourth of the alleged gang which killed two bank messengers in Brooklyn last November and got away with a $43,000 pay roll.

Luciano identified Pantano as the instigator of the holdup plot, and said that he was promised 10 per cent of the money stolen.

Here's one by The American Weekly

A. J. K.

THE Columbia Phonograph Company felt that, in spite of the wonderful success of Columbia New Process Records, there were still thousands of phonograph owners who did not fully realize this big improvement in the reproduction of tone.

So a special demonstration record was made up, featuring Ted Lewis and His Band on one side; and, on the reverse side, Charles Hackett, the great American tenor; Toscha Seidel, the celebrated violinist, and the renowned Columbia Symphony Orchestra. All this wealth of music on one record for 25c!

The job was to get the story of this unusual Demonstrator before the phonograph owners of the country QUICKLY. And effectively! The full-page advertisement, reproduced above in miniature, was inserted in The American Weekly on Sunday, November 25th, as the backbone of a special campaign.

Results were immediate—and startling! By January 1st, just 37 days later, more than one million of the Demonstrators had been sold! Phonograph dealers were, figuratively, raided and their stocks of the special record depleted in no time. In one city alone, 150 people went to the store of a dealer handling another make of phonograph, asking for the Columbia Demonstration Record. This demand impelled him to seek—and get—the Columbia franchise! Many other dealers had similar experiences.

"The results of this advertising were beyond all expectations," says the Columbia Phonograph Company. Startling, in a way. And yet, just what the sagacious advertisers of America are coming to expect from what has been called the "World's Greatest Advertising Buy."

The American Weekly is bought every week by more than 4,500,000 families, and read by more than 18,000,000 people who use it as their buying guide. Twenty-five per cent of all the people in the United States who CAN be reached by the English language!

Four million, five-hundred thousand American families, comfortably seated in one vast "auditorium," receptive to your message at the low rate of $7 a line. The "World's Greatest Advertising Buy"? That's what advertisers say. And results seem to PROVE it.

Write for data applying specifically to YOUR business. Convince yourself that the tremendous circulation and low rate of The American Weekly enable you to advertise oftener by making every advertising dollar go farther.

FORSYTH DENTAL INFIRMARY IS BOON TO POOR KIDDIES IN HUB

EXPERT TREATMENT GIVEN FOR FIVE-CENT FEE

This is the third of a series of articles which is a sequel to this Newspaper's investigation of medical quackery in Greater Boston.

If you are not acquainted with reputable physicians and wish to make sure of obtaining expert advice and fair dealing, the series will show you how to avoid quacks by patronizing Boston's health centres, like best in the country.

The Forsyth Dental Infirmary, a magnificent marble edifice in the Fenway, is the most notable institution of its kind not only in Boston, but in the world.

Founded in 1910 by Thomas Alexander Forsyth and John Hamilton Forsyth in memory of their brothers James Bennett Forsyth and George Henry Forsyth for the poor children of Boston and vicinity, it has to its credit over 2,234,000 dental operations performed since its opening in 1910; and has created nearly 150,000 individual children.

About 400 to 500 patients a day are treated at this infirmary, about 90 per cent of them coming from the public and parochial schools. No distinctions are made as to creed, race or color. Reservations are made for a certain quota each day.

VIRTUALLY PAINLESS.

Dr. Harold DeW. Cross, D. M. D., director and chief of dental staff, said that most of the children were so young that serious trouble had had no chance to set in, and the work for them is practically painless. The old theory, the doctor said, was for a parent to wait until a cavity appeared or a bad toothache set in before sending a child to the dentist's; but now, through the schools, they are doing a tremendous amount of preventive work, and the children who come from the time they are four or six, will not be obliged to go through the agony of having every two or three teeth pulled or filled.

Each child, on registering, pays a fee of 5 cents for treatment. This preserves the self-respect of the child, who feels that he is paying for what he receives; and the stigma of charity is removed. As Mr. Thomas Alexander Forsyth put it, "they are going to the lowest market; and any child has a right to do that."

ALL GRADUATE DENTISTS.

Although the Forsyth Infirmary was established primarily for dental clinics, nose and throat clinics and nutrition clinics are also held. Nose and throat or other diseases are not treated specifically at this institution, but in conjunction with the dental work.

"When a child comes here for treatment, we do not fill a tooth or two as the parent sees fit," Dr. Cross explained, "we do everything that needs to be done—cleaning, filling, extracting, X-raying. And then, if the child has diseased tonsils or nose as the result of its poor teeth, we operate. If a child has defective eyesight, mentality, or suffering from other disease, we recommend them to other first class institutions.

"All of the dentists here are practicing, graduate dentists, who have an opportunity of studying new methods at first hand—not students, as is the case in some institutions."

OPEN FROM 9 TO 5.

All children are eligible for treatment at the Forsyth Dental Infirmary from the age of four to sixteen.

Parents may bring their children, or they may come on the recommendation of physicians, dentists, etc.

The Infirmary is open daily from 9:00 to 5:00, except on Saturday, when the hours are from 9:00 to 12:00.

Ward fees for those who have to remain in the hospital over night, or several days, are $1 a day.

All children receiving treatment at the infirmary are first required to go to the Oral Hygiene room, where they are instructed in the proper use of the toothbrush and in oral and personal hygiene.

LEVY ON GIFTS NOW PROPOSED IN TAX BILL

Democratic and Republican Regulars Take Plank Away From the Insurgents

Washington, Feb. 26 (I.N.S.).—The Democratic and Republican regulars in the House took a plank away from the insurgents today when each brought out by incorporation in the tax bill a graduated plan for taxing gifts.

The regular Republican plan was presented by Chairman Green of the ways and means committee. It provided a minimum tax of 1 per cent. on $10,000, raising the tax on larger amounts until a maximum of 10 per cent. was reached on $45,000 and over. The Democratic plan was offered by Congressman Garner, and was higher in maximum.

"We asked others to offer inheritance and tax amendments which include original proposals offered by me several weeks ago," commented Congressman Frear, tax leader of the insurgent group. "No pride of authorship occurs over good amusements."

THROW SARDINES IN SEA; PRICE KEPT UP

Biarritz, France, Feb. 26.—Sardines have become so plentiful along the coast that the fishermen are limiting their catches.

It was recently found that each boat was averaging 100,000 sardines per trip, and the price fell to 20 francs per 1,000. By limiting their catch and taking an occasional day off the fishermen reduced the supply and the canners gave better prices.

Encouraged by the success of this move, the fishermen now are throwing back into the sea all over 30,000 per boat, and the price has gone up to from 40 to 70 francs per 1,000, causing an outcry from the canners all over France.

HIGH RENTS CAUSE DROP IN BIRTH RATE

Chicago, Feb. 26.—High prices are partly responsible for a decreasing birth rate in Chicago, according to a report of State Health Commissioner Isaac D. Rawlings.

The report shows 19.4 births for each thousand of population as against 20.6 births for last year, and 21.7 deaths against 11.3 for 1922.

The rest of the State has a birth rate of 18.8 and a death rate of 12.3 per thousand.

Lift Out Your Corns

ICE-MINT

THE NEW DISCOVERY ENDS ALL

Foot Troubles

This new discovery, made from a Japanese product is certainly a wonder the way it draws out inflammation from a sale of swollen, burning, aching feet. It takes the soreness right out, then the corn or callous shrivels and lifts off.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. Just think! Not one bit of pain while applying Ice-mint or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

You will never have to cut a corn again and run the risk of blood poison. Say good-by to your old corn salve, plasters and bandling tape for that pet corn of yours is sure to be a "goner" if it ever feels the magic touch of Ice-mint.

It imparts such a delightful, soothing, cooling feeling to the feet that you will gasp with relief.

Ice-mint is the real Japanese secret for fine, healthy little feet. It prevents foot odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable. It is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes.

Just ask in any drug store for a little Ice-mint and give your poor, suffering, tired, swollen feet the treat of their lives. It costs little and there is nothing better.

SPAIN PROVIDES REAL THREAT I. NEXT DAVIS CUP TENNIS

ALONSO DUO BEST IN EUROPE

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY

New York, Feb. 26.—A rumor that Spain would drop out of Davis Cup competition this year rolled over and died with the report, released for publication by the United States Lawn Tennis Association that this country has fowarded its challenge.

The U. S. L. T. also announced it is understood Manuel Alonso and his brother, Jose, will return to Spain early in the Spring to represent their native land in the Davis Cup preliminaries and the Olympic games.

Bill Tilden

Spain, despite its absence last year, due to a delay in receiving a cable dispatch, reached the final round of the European tourney, where they were defeated by France, three matches to two.

Spain will have to be conceded an excellent chance of winning in the European zone this year with Manuel playing.

The challenge of Roumania was received simultaneously with that of Spain, and makes ten nations entered in the European zone, to one in the American—Australian.

By the present outlook, Australia probably will be the only nation sending its representatives to this side, and, if this proves the case, will automatically advance to the final round to play the winner of European competition.

The Olympic games, in which most, if not all the tennis nations, except Australia, will take part, will cause a dearth of Davis cup competition in Boston and Chicago which have been the scenes of preliminary cup contests in the past.

The challenge round this year goes to the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, instead of the National Championship which will take place at the West Side Tennis Club's stadium on Long Island.

Of the countries challenging last year, Japan, Belgium, Italy, Hungary, Canada, Argentina, Czecho-Slovakia and Denmark are yet to be heard from officially.

At the recent annual meeting of the Canadian Association, however, it was decided to challenge again, but no decision made as to the zone. They entered the American zone last year, Hawaii, according to reports, will not enter this year.

Zeno Shimizu

The Japanese, who withdrew from play last year because of the earthquake disaster, are uncertain at present. Zeno Shimizu is in this country, but whether a sufficiently strong team to warrant entering can be obtained is a question.

Shimizu, a popular little player, has not been playing since the quake and the sport has suffered a big setback in Japan, by the catastrophe.

The countries challenging to date in the European zone are Ireland, India, France, Spain, Roumania, Switzerland, Holland, South Africa, British Isles and New Zealand.

JACK DEMPSEY WILL GO UNDER OPERATION

New York, Feb. 26 (Universal)—A minor operation for a fistula, will be performed on Jack Dempsey today or tomorrow.

Dempsey plans to leave the coast in about ten days, after a rest when he is discharged from the hospital.

YOUNG STRIBLING IS BEATEN BY SLATTERY

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo's light heavyweight pride, won the decision over Young Stribling of Macon, Ga., in a six round bout before the Queensbury A. C.

Twelve thousand persons witnessed the fight.

FERGUSON KNOCKS OUT COFFEY IN SIX

Pittsfield, Feb. 26.—Tracey Ferguson of Meriden, Ct., won over Vincent Coffey of Kingston, N. Y., by a technical knockout in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

RED SOX SQUAD RUN INTO BIG SNOWSTORM

By FRED C. LANE

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 26.—Manager Lee Fohl of the Red Sox is thinking seriously of swapping his baseball paraphernalia for a set of skis, toboggans and other instruments of pleasure made famous by King Winter.

Jim Price

The entertainment committee there made it plain to the Red Sox party on arrival that they would make this town as homelike as possible and their ears are filling their promises.

A real New England snowstorm raged outdoors and made all feel homesick. It was so discreeables that Manager Fohl canceled his "Daily Dozen" and sent his athletes off to the thousand and one movies in this village.

Nevertheless Manager Fohl is a firm believer in Dr. Coue and looks for some real training weather in a few days. Unless the weather man changes his disposition, it is the plan of the leader of the Red Sox to form a Winter sports committee and make arrangements for a skiing party on the San Antonio River, which winds around this city like the hands of a clock.

The club has been in town since last week and in that spell has witnessed old King Sol on display only six hours. The propaganda sent out to the universe proclaiming this, the city of the Eternal Sun, can well take Webster's textbook in hand and dope up a new motto.

There will be some celebration in this hamlet when the situation brightens. These rookies aspirants for berths on the team are hungry for action. Their disposition was never better tested than at present.

JOHNNY DREW WILL BOX JIMMY COONEY

Johnny Drew

Honey Boy Finnegan was signed for this match, but asked for a week's consideration, which the club granted. They are matched to box the week following on March 7.

The directors of the club must engage an extra detail of police as there will be more than a thousand fans refused admission, as this is the most talked of contest in Worcester County since boxing was legalized in this State.

Pell Beats Mortimer

Clarence Pell of New York successfully defended his racquet title against S. T. Mortimer of New York at the Tennis and Racquet Club. He won three games of the five played.

Taylor Will Not Sign

SIEGAL KNOCKS OUT KING IN SEVENTH

Nate Seigal of Revere knocked out Fritz King of Berlin, N. H., in the seventh round of what was scheduled to be the ten-round feature bout of the Armory A. A. at the Grand Opera House. Seigal clearly demonstrated that he is back in condition to battle the best men in the world at his weight.

Nate Siegal

King proved to be tough and rugged, and absorbed plenty of punishment from the Revere battler. The New Hampshire boy is a game fighter, but was honestly outclassed by Siegal, who early in the fight displayed determination to put King away.

In the second round, as a result of a hurricane of lefts and rights, King took the count of nine. Siegal followed him up punching hard with both hands and sent the Berlin lad down again for another call of nine. As King gamely arose the gong sounded and saved him from a knock out.

The Revere man tried hard in the third to put his man to sleep, but King managed to weather the storm of gloves which resembled a blizzard.

The fourth easily went to Seigal as did the fifth and sixth frames. The Granite Stater failed to get the edge in any round.

King was dropped to the floor again in the fifth frame for another count of nine and only fighting instinct made the fighting Berlin lad get up with a hope to score with a stiff right swing.

King went out of his corner in the seventh, punch weary and groggy and Siegal knocked him down and out with a fusilade of punches to his head and body.

In the semi-final Walter had no trouble in defeating "Gunboat" Jackson, who substituted for the Dixie Cannonball. Jackson was disqualified in the third round for holding.

In the other, Matt Cordis of Lynn knocked out Jimmy Hayes in two rounds. One more bout and the club will be held March 11. Abe Friedman and Spencer Gardner will clash in the main bout.

NEWLY WEDS ON BRAVES TOUR TO CAMP

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 26.—The first half of the journey of the Braves to their training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., was without incident of note.

All ball players looked to be in good shape.

Joe Genewich was in much better condition than he was when he reported last Spring. At that time he was thin, and not in condition to do strenuous work. He is about seventeen pounds heavier than a year ago, and says he never felt better in his life.

Genewich, Cousineau and Lansing have been married since the close of last season.

During the trip through Virginia it was rather cold and raw with a heavily overcast sky, and it was not until long after Richmond had been left behind that the reminders of a New England Winter began to disappear.

THE SUNSET ON DORCHESTER TWILIGHT

CLAUDE B. DAVIDSON, president of the Greater Boston Twilight Baseball League, has just busted through the hard snow with his first official announcement concerning the line-up of his organization for the coming season.

To the everyday fan it means but little, but to the small and growing army of followers of late matinee baseball Mr. Davidson "said a mouthful," and from the rumblings and rumors of discontent in certain circles some storm clouds are gathering to shut out the sunshine at the late afternoon pastimes.

The strife centre is Dorchester—one of the biggest and best sections in the entire city and one which boasts of one of the most complete and costly baseball layouts in the entire State.

Dorchester has been sold out. The franchise has been transferred to Graniteville to the Abbott-Worsted team—a very able and live organization—but several Dorchester outfits—with the players, but WITHOUT THE CASH—are on the outside looking in.

Why not give Dorchester a team? The fans in this section supported a tail-end club right through the season and they are ready to rally their forces to the banner of another club.

Before final plans are made we might suggest that President Davidson consider the Dorchester situation.

STEVENS SCHEDULES 15 BASEBALL GAMES

The Stevens Tech baseball schedule, just announced, contains fifteen games. A feature of the schedule is a Southern trip of four contests with Johns Hopkins, St. John's Swarthmore and Dickinson on April 16 to 19.

C. G. K. Harrih, member of the athletic faculty, has been appointed coach to supersede L. R. Durbarow.

PITCHER DICKERMAN AT BROOKLYN CAMP

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 26.—The squad of Dodger battermen in the training camp was increased to fourteen with the arrival of Lee Dickerman, the tall right handed pitcher who started out like a whirlwind with the Brooklyn team last season, only to falter and fall into a losing streak that endured during the last half of the campaign.

QUINCY CIVIC BOXING TOURNAMENT MARCH 4

The Quincy Civic Association is making plans for an open boxing amateur meet to be held on March 4 at Alpha Hall, Quincy.

There will be three classes for the simon pures, 112 and 147 pound open, and 118 pound novice.

BROOKLYN CLUB IS HOT FOR GONZALES

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 26.—President Ebbets of Brooklyn is negotiating for Mike Gonzales, St. Paul catcher. It is expected that a deal soon will be announced.

Nine pitchers are in camp, Vance, Ruether, Decatur and Schreiber, veterans of last year, are on the list.

Mothers!

Give the Children WRIGLEY'S after every meal

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth. . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

You know how hard it is to get the children to clean their teeth. By giving them WRIGLEY'S you not only reward them for cleaning their teeth, but the reward is actually the means of performing this important service!

WRIGLEY'S is a benefit and a pleasure combined. It serves two purposes—and its cost is very small.

Malone and Todd Is the Fight

Every match maker in the country is dickering to match Jock Malone with Roland Todd of Great Britain. Their recent fight here in Boston is the talk of the fistic world.

B. A. A. Grand Finale of Indoor

Saturday's B. A. A. school meet will be the grand finale for the athletes of the New England schools. All the best school boy athletes will be seen in Mechanics Building in the matinee performance.

BERMONDSEY BILLY WELLS FAVORITE OVER PETE LATZO

BRITON IS FAST AND CLEVER

Although Pete Latzo won only Boston fight in a gallop, the fans have made Bermondsey Billy Wells, a decided favorite in tonight's battle in Mechanics Building.

The bout should be sensational. The men are very evenly matched, know all the tricks of the ring, and there is no reason why the contest should not be a brilliant scrap.

The Scranton miner is in the pink of condition. Latzo worked out at Kelley & Hays' Gymnasium and made a decided impression on those who watched him.

Jack Sharkey

Latzo has great respect for Wells. He is confident he can beat him, but is frank enough to say that he is the cleverest fighter he ever fought. He met Wells in a ten-round no decision bout a year ago at Scranton. Pete says that Wells is the hardest man in the ring to hit.

"I always thought that I had the shade when we met in Scranton," said Latzo. "Tonight we will decide who is the better man."

The Britisher's cleverness and speed have made him the popular choice, but the admirers of Latzo believe that Pete can score to the jaw with his right and end the battle.

When Latzo boxed George Ward here, he was weak as he suffered from ptomaine poisoning, yet he had Ward on the floor four times.

Wells' admirers assert he beat Jock Malone twice in no-decision bouts and outslugged Dave Shade. Wells has beaten Jimmy Jones, Ted Moore, who boxed Shade and Loughran here and knocked out Frank Moody, the English fighter, who battled here with Louis Bogash.

Al Sears

Al Sears of East Boston, and Ted Coolidge, who knocked out Whitey Allen, will box in the semi-final.

Louis Zigarri, the Bolivian, will make his professional debut in an eight-round battle with Frankie O'Leary of East Boston.

KELLY AND GREEN BOX A TAME BOUT

Jimmy Kelly of New York, defeated Jack Green of Providence, in the feature bout of ten rounds at the Casino A. C. of Lynn in one of the poorest exhibitions seen in that city in years.

Neither of the boxers seemed to try and were booed and hissed all through the contest.

Kelly could not seem to fathom Green who had the height and reach on him and would not step up till he got inside and then bang away with both hands.

The semi-final was the real bout of the night in which Frankie Buff of Charlestown beat Lefty Williams of Lowell in eight rounds.

In the preliminaries Tommy Clayton of the West End knocked out Bennie Brooks of the South End in three rounds and Jimmy Plaza knocked out Tommy Hart of the West End in three rounds.

BERLIN WINS FROM NEW HAVEN, 3 TO 0

Berlin, N. H., Feb. 26.—The Berlin hockey team defeated New Haven, 3 to 0, in one of the best played games that Berlin has taken part in this season. It was all team work with the Berlin boys and no player was out for individual glory. In the last period Cox did well for the Bears.

The lineup and summary:

BERLIN		NEW HAVEN
Sharpe, f.d.	L.w., W. Dea-
McLaurin, l.d.	r.w., Lawson
Gauthier, r.	Cm., Troy

KOTSONAROS IS ALL SET FOR TARAMASCHI

George Kotsonaros is primed and ready for his finish match with Angelo Taramaschi at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night. Kotsy came here direct from Miles City, Mont., where he had a tough heavyweight after a rugged match. He will work out with some of the local boys at the union gymnasium tomorrow, and then will be fit for the battle of his life.

Angelo Taramaschi

Taramaschi has carefully prepared himself for this match, as he realizes that he must be at his best to beat his Greek rival. Angelo's friends are confident that he can beat Kotsy, and they will root for him to win.

In three matches with Kotsonaros Calza, the former Italian idol, was able to gain but one fall.

Both men are experts in the use of the flying mare. Taramaschi has won most of his important matches with it.

Kotsonaros also has made a study of this hold.

It will be a case of who can put it over first in this match.

Friends of Stanley Stasiak wonder why he is training so hard. He has gathered six wrestling partners and is training as never before. Stanley was not satisfied with his condition in his match with Zbyszko last week. Before the match he felt in great trim, but as the match progressed he felt effects of his recent illness.

The big Pole cannot afford to make any more slips and barring accidents will be in wonderful shape for the rest of the season. He meets Kotoromis, the new Greek heavyweight, in a one-fall match.

Farmer Bafley, still trailing Stasiak for a match, will also appear on the card.

HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS IN DILBOY TOURNEY

The number of entries received by the boxing committee of Dilboy Post, V. F. W., for its amateur tournament to be staged in K. of C. Hall, Somerville, Thursday, gives every indication that there will be plenty of action and the followers of the mauler mitt-wielders are in for a good evening's entertainment.

The committee has added a class and bouts at 112, 118, 126, 136 and 147 pounds and heavyweight divisions will be held.

Entries for the heavyweight class are coming in fast, and it is expected that this class will be the hit of the show.

The fans have clamored for the heavy fellows and the committee is catering to their desires in staging this additional class.

Arrangements have been made with the Boston Elevated officials to provide extra car service before and after the show. The bouts will start at 8 o'clock.

MRS. PAYNE WHITNEY SENDS HORSES WEST

Tia Juana, Mex., Feb. 26.—President James W. Coffroth of the Tia Juana Jockey Club has learned that the Greentree Stable, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, one of the country's wealthiest owners, will be shipped from New Orleans to Tia Juana March 1.

The division that will come here comprises eight thoroughbreds and Blaize, Exodus, Solista and Moonraker are included.

MONDT DEFEATS ALVAREZ IN TWO FALLS

"Toots" Mondt won his third straight mat victory in this city when he defeated Joe Alvarez in the feature bout at George Tuohey's wrestling carnival at Mechanics Building.

Toots Mondt

Mondt proved to the satisfaction of the experts at the show that he is the front rank of the grapplers and is on an upward climb toward the championship.

Alvarez was beaten in two straight falls. "Toots" got the first in less than an hour. He applied a double armlock and that put Joe down. The official time was 53 minutes and 45 seconds.

Alvarez did not last so long in the second combat. Mondt won with a jackknife scissors in 14 minutes and 29 seconds.

The default of John Pesak at the last minute hurt the attendance which was not up to what was expected. The veteran promoter provided a real entertainment, however, and when the three regular bouts failed to give a long show he put on an extra bout.

In that feature Bill Rudy took the measure of Frank Durcher with a body scissors in 25 minutes and 41 seconds.

Elmer Saunders and Frank Judson met in the semi-final. They wrestled for 30 minutes. Neither obtained a fall and the verdict was a draw.

DARTMOUTH HOCKEY TEAM TO PLAY PENN

Hanover, N. H., Feb. 26.—Dartmouth's hockey team will get in an extra game before the Princeton contest next Saturday in the Tiger's lair, as they line up against Penn. Friday night in Philadelphia.

With a Crimson victory tucked away, and with Johnny Maneer, the hero of the contest last Saturday in first class shape again, the Green team should be in the best shape at Princeton.

Eleven players will leave Hanover Thursday immediately after a practice session and arrive in Philadelphia in time for the Red and Blue encounter.

Dr. Lasker, Champion Chess Player, on Ship Icebound

TOMMY ROBSON TO FIGHT BERLENBACH

Tommy Robson, the hard hitting middleweight, will show his wares to the members of the Broadway Athletic Club in Brooklyn on March 3. And Paul Berlenbach, the new boxing sensation among middleweight ranks has undertaken a tough contract. He will face Robson.

NORWICH RIFLE TEAM WINS OVER "TIGERS"

Northfield, Vt., Feb. 26.—Results of the first set of matches in the new Northeastern Intercollegiate Rifle League received by Manager Frederick Streicher show that the Norwich University team cadets won from Princeton, 1,878 to 1,671. Columbia defeated Massachusetts Institute Technology, 1,902 to 1,880. Over the week-end Norwich fired a total of 1,931 against Yale. The score made by the Elis has not yet been transmitted to Norwich.

POLO AND PRINCE GO TO TEN ROUND DRAW

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 26.—Eddie Polo of Waterville, Me., and Eddie Petrea, Chicago, went ten rounds to a draw in a bout billed as a Northern New England lightheavyweight battle.

The award was greeted with jeers. Polo had the edge on the local boy. Red Mack kayoed Bennie Wilson in the third and Al Sharkey in two rounds with Al Champagne, who did an "iron man stunt" as he won in one round over Red Young by a knockout in a preceding bout.

Arrange Volley Ball Games

On next Saturday the Boston volley ball team will tackle Lynn at Lynn, and next Monday, the Wakefield "Y" team will play Boston at the Huntington avenue branch.

MEDFORD MEETS ANDOVER IN A RELAY?

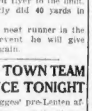
It looks as if Medford will be picked to race Andover in a relay event at Mechanics Building on Saturday in the B. A. A. schoolboy track meet. The only hitch in the arrangement is the undecided order for such an event.

Neither Medford nor Andover is willing to risk the chance to win the first leg of the new cup by running their relay stars before they have an opportunity to swell their score in the other events.

If Tom Kanaly can swing in the relay at a time acceptable to both schools, the fans are due for the best relay race of the afternoon.

Among Exeter's entries is R. H. O'Connell, who will compete in the 45-yard dash and in the 300. O'Connell is the one likely to meet "Hank" Moore, captain of the Medford team, if he does not win, surely he will force the Medford flyer to the limit. O'Connell recently did 40 yards in 4 4-5 seconds.

O'Connell is a real runner in the 300, in which event he will give Medford a run again.



Hank Moore

NEPONSET TOWN TEAM HAS DANCE TONIGHT

Dorchester's biggest pre-Lenten affair, the annual dance of the Neponset Town Team, will take place this evening at Bloomfield Hall. The organization, which had a most successful season on the diamond last year, has worked hard to make this dance even more successful than its predecessors.

Tom Kerr, who has been signed for Keith's circuit, will personally conduct his orchestra. The success of the past dances held by the Town Team bids fair to be exceeded.

Ops Seligren, the chairman, is assisted by C. Byron Hill and the rest of the boys in putting the dance over the top.

DRISCOLL WILL RUN IN THE "CASEY 600"

"Jake" Driscoll, B. A. A. crack and winner of the 400-Metre Special at the Wilco Meet, has entered the lists for the "Casey 600," to be run at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory, 168th street and Broadway, on March 14.

Basketball Notes

The best court attraction tonight has the Oke Club of Brockton coming to Cambridge, where they battle with the St. Mary's Catholic Association at the latter's hall. This is a South Shore league game which brings the two league leaders together. The aggregation from Brockton are in first place, leading the Saints with 5 wins and one loss, while the boys in the University City have dropped 2 games and won 4.

Eddie Kelly

Should the Saints win tonight's fracas it will mean a tie for the first rung in the league ladder. Eddie Kelly and Sullivan are the two stars of the St. Mary team.

In the Greater Boston league this evening the Fore Marquette team of South Boston will journey to Chelsea, where they are down to meet the Chelsea K. of C. in the William School Hall.

The Whirlwind Social and Athletic Club of Chelsea are seeking trouble in the 80-90-pound class with best teams in around Boston. Write to Sol Rubin, No. 178 Chestnut street, Chelsea.

The Eagle A. C. of Nashua, N. H. are ready to meet all 140-145-pound teams in New England. Games away from home preferred with strictly amateur teams. The Eagle lineup is O'Neil and Bertrand, guards; Houde, former St. Anselm's College, centre; Kelly and Turner, forwards. Write to Orville Kenney, No. 39 Lake street, Nashua, N. H. Telephone Nashua 1283-W.

The West End House basketball teams are seeking games away from home. Teams wishing good attraction, communicate with Lea Tarr, West End House, City. Telephone Haymarket 4265 between 7.45 and 10 p. m.

The Phantom Five of Dorchester are ready to meet any 90-100-pound teams in the state. Communicate with Paul O'Brien, telephone Dorchester 5054.

The Rainbow A. C. of Brockton would like to arrange games with best 120-130-pound teams in the State. Write to Charles Zaner, No. 1 Linden street, Brockton.

BOSTON BOXERS IN NEW YORK TOURNEY

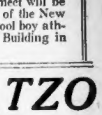
Defeats Henry

New York, Feb. 26.—Sid Terris of New York won the decision over Billy Henry of Chicago in a 12-round bout. Terris weighed 130½ pounds and Henry 130.

BIG "GATES" AT GRID GAMES STARTS ROW

By LES CONKLIN

New York, Feb. 26.—The staggering sums taken in as gate receipts at football games in the larger universities last season have convinced various college authorities that the sport has overstepped the bounds of "sport for sport's sake" and is becoming a commercial enterprise. They "view with alarm" the demand for larger stadiums, fearing that football has no monopolized interest in college activities that, like the Frankenstein monster, it threatens to destroy the ideals of the institution which fostered it.



Walter Camp

Statistics show a considerable variation in the size of the gate receipts. At Syracuse profits of approximately $40,000 were realized last season. The receipts overtopped every previous year's, but expenditures were also greater. The money from football was used to run all other sports.

Football profits at Columbia University for last season were $17,000, as compared with $18,000 for 1920; $17,000 for 1921 and $18,000 for 1922.

Although the athletic association at Williams College collected $8,444 in gate receipts and $11,405 in guarantees, the money taken in was almost entirely eaten up by expenses.

Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the Board of Athletic Control at Princeton University, classed as "superficial" the statement that college football has become commercialized.

TRY TO REPEL CASH CUSTOMERS.

"These large football gate receipts have come in an entirely spontaneous way," explained Dr. Kennedy, "because football is a game with a thrilling interest to the spectator beyond that of any other sport. Spectators, therefore, demand seats, in the absence of stadia with elastic walls, the problem of athletic associations in the so-called "big" games is not to attract spectators, but to repel them.

"It is not varsity football almost alone that finances our whole modern system of intercollegiate sport," he declared.

Dr. Kennedy pointed out that in the larger universities the handling of the athletic funds has passed out of the hands of undergraduates and of "irresponsible groups of alumni" into the administration of responsible business organizations under the control of the universities.

The only way expenses can be reduced, Dr. Kennedy declared, is for coaches to give their services free and for all students to buy their own athletic equipment.

CAMP OBJECTS TO SPENDING METHOD

The other side of the question was upheld by Walter Camp, one of the world's foremost authorities on athletics, who condemned the existing system on the ground that all the money taken in was expended for the benefit of a small percentage of the student body.

"The trouble with college athletics is that there is too much athletics and too few athletes," said Camp. "Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent, and the product is a few score athletes trained to the last notch.

"The other unnumbered thousands of college students are satisfied with the second-hand glory in the skill of 'our team,' and for the most part do not realize their own failure to secure a share in the general athletic benefit.

DEMERS FELL OUT OF RING; HARKO WINS

Nashua, N. H., Feb. 26.—Johnny Harko of Manchester, N. H., was given the verdict over Gene Demers of Montreal in the third round of their bout at O'Donnell Hall. In that round Demers fell out of the ring and injured his right leg and declared he was unable to continue. Harko had the better of the bout up to that point.

Some members of Biddeford say the decision over Willie Ison of Lynn in the eight-round semi-final that the verdict was not popular.

Kid Villa of Nashua and Tommy Ryan of New Bedford boxed a six-round draw. Young Miller of Nashua knocked out Henry Demers of Biddeford in five rounds and Young Kanaly and Young Giroud, both of Nashua, boxed a four-round draw.

Love Finds Way In, Though Dad Nailed Up The Doors

Worcester, Feb. 26.—Love launchs at locksmiths, but when it comes to nails——!

One obstacle to love was raised, a son declared, when his father, to keep his daughters' suitors out, nailed the doors.

However, one of the suitors, far from being blocked by the nailed doors, appeared in court and testified for Mrs. Winquist.

The son declared that his father at one time played "Nearer My God to Thee," before attempting to shoot himself.

North End Fire

Several families were driven into the street when the two-and-a-half-story dwelling at No. 14 Wiggett street, North End, caught fire early today. The building is owned by Stanley Diviolgi. Firemen confined the fire to the first floor and the loss amounted to about $200.

FIREMAN HURT, AGED WOMAN SAVED

Blaze in Dudley Street Store Does Damage Estimated at $1,500

A fireman was injured and an eighty-year-old invalid woman was rescued at a fire in a building at Dudley and Adams streets, Roxbury, which resulted when the grocery store of Maude Dangelo in the building caught fire from a gas stove. Mrs. Dangelo ran to the nearby firehouse, gasped the news of the fire and fell in a faint.

Mrs. Margaret Teevan.

By the time the firemen arrived all occupants of the block had fled to safety except Mrs. Margaret Teevan, eighty years old, an invalid; Miss Celia Carroll and Miss Margaret Shannon. Other occupants of the building then rushed back to the fifth floor, occupied by Mrs. Teevan, and carried her to safety.

"Ah, gee, she'll never find it out," urged the eager one, and the reluctant boy consented.

But mothers do find out, somehow.

Today the two Dorchester boys, Peter Lavin, twelve, of No. 67 Freeport street, and Joseph O'Brien, nine, of No. 73 Freeport street, lie in the City Hospital in critical condition, as a result of their coast on "Big Linden," the Fox street hill, against the orders of their mothers.

Close by, in two other beds, also badly injured, lay Cornelius Harrington, Jr., fourteen, of No. 82 Brent street, and George A. Cummings, fifteen, of No. 80 Brent street, victims of the juvenile "just a little while longer" urge.

Young Lavin has a concussion of the brain and a possible fracture of the skull. O'Brien is suffering from multiple injuries. They crashed into an auto truck operated by Armond L. Gerry of Glover place, Atlantic, when they were unable to stop their speeding sled.

The Harrington and Cummings boys, reluctant to call a halt to their coasting, were given an extra hour of playtime before going to bed and went over to Tremlett street, where both coasted on one sled.

Then, on the last coast the sled became unmanageable and crushed into a pole.

THREE RESCUED AT TWO-ALARM FIRE

One fireman was injured, an old man, a sick woman and a three-year old boy were rescued, and more than twenty people were forced out of their homes by smoke, during a fire of undetermined origin in the three-story dwelling house at No. 16 Texas street, Roxbury Crossing, causing $3000 damages.

Mrs. Mabel Perrigo

Herbert Reddish

The fire was discovered by Merrill Perrigo, of No. 1342 Tremont street, who rushed into the house, notifying the occupants. At the top floor, lying sick in bed was his sister-in-law, Mrs. James Perrigo. He carried her out and entered again, carrying out seventy-year-old Arthur Bennett, who had been weakened by the smoke.

While on the second floor District-Chief Downey thought he heard a cry. Investigating he found three-year-old Herbert Raddish, who, left alone during the excitement, had become frightened and crawled into a closet. The chief carried the boy out.

BOY GREETS DOCTOR, THEN SHOOTS SELF

Mr. and Mrs. William Finerthy of North Woburn have found no reason for the attempted suicide of their seventeen-year-old son, Walter. Apparently the boy had been in good health and sound state of mind, they declared.

He is on the Walter Finerthy danger list in the Choate Memorial Hospital, Woburn. The boy stopped Dr. Robert E. Chambers in front of the hospital, handed him a note with the words: "Here's my name and address, Doctor," and while the doctor was reading it, shot himself.

VIOLET RAY ADDS OR CUTS WEIGHT

Paris, Feb. 26.—The ultra-violet ray is equally effective as a weight reducer or producer, according to Drs. Livet and Vaultier, who described to the Academy of Medicine the results obtained when the rays were applied to a number of patients, bringing about a loss in weight of from eight to twenty pounds. The same rays, used to tone up debilitated patients, caused them to put on flesh.

WIFE SHOT DEAD BY GASSED 'VET'

Pittsburgh, Feb. 26.—A gassed veteran of the American Army shot his young wife to death while their three small children looked on, then surrendered to police, who battered down the doors of the home to find the soldier gibbering over the body of his dead mate.

Oliver Nesler, twenty-eight, the husband, was recently released from a hospital in Baltimore where he had been undergoing treatment for gassing suffered in France.

FIGHT BRITISH PLAN FOR 7 NEW WARSHIPS

London, Feb. 26—Nineteen Liberal members of Parliament have signed a resolution against the government plan for seven new warships, it was announced last night.

The resolution, which states the warships are unnecessary at present for naval defense, is now being circulated for signatures.

The Daily Express intimates that Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, Lord Privy Seal, will resign from the government because of the decision to build the seven warships.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Avoid Exposure, Eat No Sweets and Take Jad Salts

Stay off the damp ground and exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and also take a spoonful of Jad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric acids.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter these acids from the blood. The pores of the skin are also a means of eliminating these poisons, but when the kidneys are overworked and the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about 4 ounces of Jad Salts, put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, so it no longer irritates, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to purify the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

QUINN SCORES MELLON'S 20 BONUS 'ERROR'

Sees Deliberate Miscalculation in Tax Reduction Figures

This is the second of a series of articles prepared for the Boston American by the national commander of the Legion to bring the truth about adjusted compensation to the world and correct what, if a previous article told of correctly, is the result of a deliberate misrepresentation.

By JOHN R. QUINN,
National Commander, American Legion.
Written for Cosmopolitan News Service.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 26.—In case [illegible] facts later brought out, an World War veteran is within [illegible] his rights in believing that the [illegible] billion dollar [illegible] made by [illegible] Secretary of [illegible] Treasury [illegible] was a deliberate political [illegible].

John R. Quinn

Consider the story: After Liberty Bonds [illegible] gone to par, after Great Britain had begun to pay interest on her debt to the two governments advanced for non payment of adjusted compensation were gone.

Congress was known to favor adjusted compensation. President Harding, when Senator, had admitted the justice of the claim and had voted for the bill. He would probably sign such a measure unless he could be convinced the country could not afford to pay the bill.

MELLON'S INFLUENCE.

Therein lies the only hope of the opposition to convince the President it would mean financial suicide to grant adjusted compensation.

And it was decided to do just that. Andrew J. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, went to the President and informed him the country was facing a colossal financial crisis. The year ending June 30, 1924, would show a deficit of $6,000,000 he reported.

Now a deficit of more than a half billion is a serious matter, and any executive would provide a long row to hoe before spending more money if he knew the nation was running behind.

So influenced by Mr. Mellon's prediction the President was induced to veto the bill. The House repassed the measure with a huge majority, but certain Senators were affected by Mr. Mellon's financial forecast and the measure lacked four votes of overriding the veto.

When June 30, 1923 came, however, there was no deficit of $650,000,000. Instead there was a surplus of $377,000,000. And $213,000,000 had been paid off the public debt.

BILLION DOLLAR ERROR.

Mr. Mellon had made an error of over [illegible] billion. As George Washington would [illegible] billion dollars [illegible] to?

People have told you that men as well as the Secretary of the Treasury do not make billion dollar errors, even they can not be [illegible] one of the richest [illegible] in the nation.

The Secretary of the Treasury is a financial genius, the shrewd [illegible] business man, he [illegible] how did it happen [illegible] billion dollars to make [illegible] a colossal mistake in [illegible] surplus?

[illegible] the error was received [illegible] unfavorably served as the [illegible] opposing the veteran [illegible] cause he was ask [illegible]

And the [illegible] came.

In 1923 the condition of the treasury could no longer be disguised. The country was prosperous and the one and only excuse advanced by the opponents of adjusted compensation—that the country could not afford it—was no longer [illegible].

TAX REDUCTION PLEA.

It did seem as if the people's will would be put into effect; that after [illegible] of vetoing the veteran [illegible] he just due.

[illegible] reckoned wrong [illegible] with the announcement [illegible] came the Secretary of the Treasury pronouncement for tax reduction.

[illegible] has wrongly coupled the [illegible] tax reduction was to [illegible] could not be paid [illegible] was paid not only [illegible] tax reduction, but [illegible] in taxes.

[illegible] statement more ingenious and less founded on [illegible].

Now I will explain how the [illegible] Legion and certain Senators [illegible] to do some [illegible] Mr Mellon and how [illegible] even that payment of [illegible] compensation would not [illegible] reduction in taxes, the [illegible] of the Treasury brought [illegible] more favorable figures and [illegible] speculative guessing.

SOUTH END HERMIT IS FOUND DEAD

An aged recluse, known only as [illegible] was found dead today in the basement apartment he occupied at No. [illegible] Street, South End. The man had not been seen for a week and when the owner of the house, Mrs. Celia Cohen, became alarmed and notified the police, they broke in and found the man lying on the floor, fully clad, dead. He had been dead some days. He was apparently 55 or 60 years old.

SOCIETY FOLK HAVE PRIVATE SKATING RINK

The magnet that has been drawing persons prominent in social circles to the section for some time has a skating rink enclosed by a fence to insure exclusiveness and located on the estate of Isador Bragiotti, No. 78 Upland road.

The rink was built by the young men of the district. Three 200 candle power incandescent lamps and green shades located at different sections of the rink make it possible for skating and hockey playing at night as well as during the day.

There are twenty three members in the rink association, including a board of three managers composed of Ramar and Dorillo Bragiotti and Edward W. Briggs, son of Selectman [illegible].

Friday's Blue Day; It's Then Grils Show Temper

New York, Feb. 26 (CNS)—Blue Monday is a myth, the true blue days being Friday and Saturday. This statement is based upon the result of a test. Dr Georgina Strickland Gates told the American Psychological Association at Columbia University. She said she received reports from fifty-one adult women. More of them got angry on Friday or Saturday than on Monday or Tuesday, and all felt better after they had eaten.

C. Loring Briggs of No. 94 Walnut place, Brookline.

Among the honorary members are Mrs. C. Loring Briggs, Charles Barker, Dr. Charles H. Denny, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cunningham and Miss Charles Monroe.

"The rink is not run for profit," the members point out. The membership fee is one dollar a year. A charge of ten cents for morning or afternoon skating and fifteen cents for evening is charged non members, while members just use the rink rights are assessed five cents each.

SEES BIG BOOST FOR FARMERS' EXCHANGE

Springfield, Feb. 26—An increase in business of 50 per cent in the coming year, which would bring the amount of commodities handled for farmers up to [illegible] was forecast today by Howard W. Selby general manager of the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange.

At the closing meeting of the co-operative organization he said that in the last year a total of 97,000 tons of commodities was distributed the value of which was $4,851,500.

Mr. Selby stated that the exchange started six years ago with nothing, and besides expenses of organization suffered a deficit of $27,000 in 1920 but closed its books for 1923 with $6,000 surplus.

THINK SPEVAK GIRL IS IN HIDING

Detectives Visit City Thirty Miles From Boston, but Fail to Find Girl

Miss Frances Spevak, No. 11 Norfolk street, Roxbury, who disappeared from her home a week ago is the eye of her marriage, may be residing in the outskirts of a city thirty miles from Boston, according to operatives of the Wolf Secret Service Bureau.

A girl has been found in "a city thirty miles from Boston," who answers to the description of Miss Spevak, according to inmates of a [illegible] house there. She arrived at the police house a few days ago wearing the silver-buckled shoes, the beckoned skirt, and other articles of clothing described when the Spevak girl first vanished.

When detectives called at the [illegible] house to see the girl she was not to be found.

Mr. and Mrs. Spevak discount the theory that their daughter committed suicide. They recall that on January 13 Frances was pulled out of the icy water in the Charles River basin, half drowned, but they accept her explanation that she fell in the river while leaning over the bridge.

MILKMAN AND SISTER HEIRS TO MILLION

Vermont Farmer, After Long Fight Among Heirs, Finds It Pays to Wait

Rutland, Vt., Feb. 26.—Having been decreed one of two Vermont heirs to a California estate of more than $1,000,000, T. G. Hart of Rutland Town will quit the milk pedalling business in a day or two, kick his milk pail over the barn roof, throw his blue denim overalls away and strike for the West and a bungalow in the hills.

Mr. Hart will be accompanied by his sister and co-heir Mrs. Edward Leonard, of Clarendon, wife of a small-town farmer.

So has ended a three years' battle in the courts of California over the estate of Mrs. Ellen M. Wilson of Sacramento, born a Flanagan of Shrewsbury, who left an estate consisting of thousands of dollars in bonds and securities and 5,000 acres of fertile and almost priceless California land.

Mrs. Wilson, born Flanagan, aunt of the middle-aged brother and sister who are to succeed to her property, was wed to her husband in the great land rush of '49.

Wilson acquired not a property and died having everything to his wife. Mrs. Wilson had one son, who married, but died without issue. Under the California laws her estate reverted to persons of her own blood.

During all the years her Vermont relatives had heard little or nothing from Ellen Flanagan Wilson and then one day came the news of her death. Followed fast the story of her immense wealth and the discovery that she had left no kin nearer than the two Vermonters.

BEAUTY FILLS 'MUSIC BOX REVUE'

Gorgeous Scenes, Wholesome Fun and Tuneful Music at Colonial

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

TRAILING among third sixty days of one year after another there is only a forlorn chance that more than a pen of suitable adjectives are left in the office typewriter. What is said, chiefly about one revue is generally applied to the next, and then the next—and so on to the dying days of the musical drama sometime in May.

How anything new may be mentioned concerning Irving Berlin's "Music Box Revue," which took the Colonial by storm last night is not clear, except that it carried a rollicking wallop in the form of cheerful entertainment and did not send you home disappointed.

GORGEOUS SPECTACLE.

In simple truth it may be said that the "Music Box Revue" is the most gorgeous of the long list of eye and ear frivolities that have assailed the season's stage—yet the same thing has been said many times before. It's a pity to run out of superlatives so early in the Winter.

Still, if you care for fun that is wholesome, music that is tuneful, scenery that starts somewhere in the lower regions beneath the stage and stretches far above the proscenium and costuming that tells a separate and distinct story of beauty and color, you may safely spend the evening at the Colonial.

All of your senses will be fed to the limit and you'll have a rich time trying to scare up a blush. There never was a purer revue. Whatever else may be said, here is a mixture of about everything in musical entertainment and all of it safe for children.

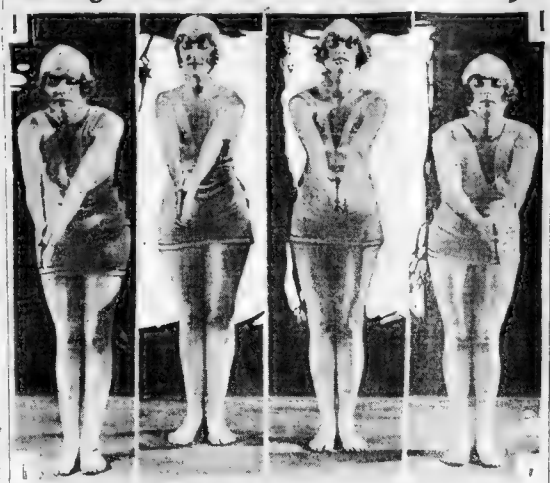
Bathing Beauties in "Great White Way"



FOUR FOLLIES GIRLS IN BIG FILM SEEN HERE FRIDAY

you find Charlotte Greenwood tossing her widely known arms and legs into the proceedings with a familiar abandon. There was no way of determining whether Miss Greenwood or her audience was having the best of it

BRIGHT COMEDY.

Bobby Clark proved himself another enlivening influence on the performance with a brand of cedar comedy that tanged every funny bone in the theatre. His companion Paul McCullough, and Hal Sherman a two pointed dancer with an eagle eye on the eyes, and their own contributions to gaiety. Mr Sherman is assisted until the final moments of the show by the fairest creature into an uproar with an eccentric dance. Will Archie a dreadfully comedian, added his own bit to the proceedings.

For melody that came straight from well tuned throats you had Bela Board Sam Ash, the McCarthy sisters and a chorus of Irving Berlin's own creation. As Mr Berlin is a proud boy for the music, you may be sure that its charms were cheerfully treated.

In scenic effects and costuming the "Music Box Revue" shone quite a distance ahead of the prevailing fashion in these things with only a suspicion to keep you talking for days.

Marion Davies in the Cosmopolitan debut in the title role Production, "Little Old New York," made from Rida Johnson Young's successful stage play of the same name, is now in its last three days at the Park Theatre, where it opened its engagement next Thursday night.

It will make way for a new Cosmopolitan production to be shown for the first time outside of New York when it was revised for many weeks with high enthusiasm. "The Great White Way," the picturing of the white lights, stars of the stage and film. Elsie Ferguson, Conway Tearle and Mabel Normand.

A whole array of stars at present appear to be a part of each picture, but we are to the production.

A cast of the company's work appears to be a roster of leading Broadway celebrities. Anna Nilsson will be seen in the leading feminine role, and Oscar Shaw makes his screen with him.

Among others are T. Roy Barnes, Jim Lewis, Harry Watson, Irene Dunne, Otto Howland, Hal Forde, Stanley Forde and Hilly Brisbane. Many of the sporting celebrities are to be seen as well known characters.

A feature of the engagement will be the showing of the Cosmopolitan Magazine cover girl contest, which closed its doors with a total of 1,000,000 votes cast. The winner was Miss Dorothy Knapp, of Louisville, Ky., who will be seen in the picture.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

In the South, Feb. 26.—The world does move. So does the South. So does Texas. Take Fort Worth. One of its citizens, Mayor Van Zandt, is talking to the writer of this column:

"When all our slaves went away from my family's home, I struck out to find ways and means of making a living. Several others who started with me gave up, but I pushed on here to Fort Worth. What kind of a town was it? It wasn't a town at all. There was just a little broken community, with a few dilapidated houses, no railroad, no bank, and what was worse, no currency to speak of. People would not pay anywhere. We had a little Mexican currency—and a few very rare pieces of gold.

* * *

"Talking of gold, I farmed one into ten pieces one day, with a twenty dollar gold piece as I paid it to he doctor who had had a real fee after all, to a farmer all the while between the States which had just ended. The doctor said, 'I have one.' This recipient paid it out to another party. And would you believe that in one day this same piece of gold liquidated two hundred dollars of debt and ended up in the pocket of the farmer who brought it in?

"Barter was the general rule.

* * *

"I realized that good prices would be obtained for merchandise, so I went to New York and bought a bill of goods. Some of the goods had not arrived by the time four months given for them fell due. That will give you an idea of our transportation facilities in those days, in 'sixty-five' and 'sixty-six.'

* * *

That's one picture. Today Fort Worth has 163,000 population, has inspired within seven years

It has eighteen railroads.

It is the scene of the interchange of 1,800,000 carloads of freight in a year, and has consigned to or through it some 60 per cent. of all cattle freight entering Texas.

It manufactures more than $150,000,000 worth of goods a year.

It has 380 manufacturing establishments.

It has nine flour and feed mills, and can store about 7,000,000 bushels of grain.

It has bank clearances running as high as $4,000,000 a month.

* * *

EVERY DAY FOR THE LAST THREE YEARS FORT WORTH HAS BUILT AN AVERAGE OF FIVE NEW HOMES.

I have before me a partial list of industrial plants under way or completed within the last three months in Fort Worth.

Southwestern Cement Company, $1,750,000; Trinity Portland Cement Company, $1,750,000, Transcontinental Oils Cracking and Lubricating Plant, $1,500,000; Texas Steel Mills, $1,250,000; White Eagle Ref Cracking Plant, $750,000; Ford Motor Company, elevator, $750,000; warehouse, $250,000; T. S. Helium Gas Plant $250,000, Buey Ingram Lumber Mill, $200,000; Star Engraving Co., new addition, $100,000, Smith Brothers Grain Company, addition, $10,000.

And half a score other projects of $50,000 or more bringing the total up to $9,355,000.

Then there are under construction a $1,000,000 Methodist Hospital, a $250,000 Y. M. C. A., a $250,000 addition to the Masonic Home, $250,000 sanitarium and a million dollars' worth of church buildings.

* * *

ANACONDA OFF TO NEW LOW FOR YEAR

Heaviness again cropped out in the coppers in a mixed New York stock market. Anaconda dropped 3 points on passage of dividend after four successive quarterly payments at the $4 rate.

Studebaker was strong, up over a point. Studebaker directors have called special stockholders' meeting for April 1. This is to act on recapitalization plan. Changing of stock so new par will equal market value and effecting split-up before then.

Short selling continued, however, in certain specialties. Central Leather fell over a point to 14¾ and the preferred 1¾, the latter touching 47¾, a new low record for the year.

Sinclair Oil also touched new low at 9¾ on overnight drop of 1 point. Strength of the motor and independent oil stocks was in contrast. Chandler, Stromberg Carburetor and Walker Spicebottler, Black & Decker Sheffield, Chrysler, Studebaker, Nash, Hudson Motors, Reading & Pullman, Crucible Steel, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Mexican Seaboard Oil & Ohio Oil (+5) were among yesterday's final leaders.

Virginia Carolina Chemical preferred extended its gain to 1¾ and 1st preferred Business Machines to 2¾. Trading in rails was sluggish although strength developed in Atlantic Coast Line, Rock Island and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Foreign Bonds Helped by News From Abroad

The remainder of the list was on regular with trading featured by a sharp rally in the Virginia-Carolina Chemical issues, which declined to new low levels yesterday, and by the activity of forward adjustments in the Norfolk & Western convertible issue to new high prices for the year.

Copper Issues Lower in Trading in Boston

New Haven and Boston Wharf up fractions. Woolen, American Telephone, Shoe, Swift, Ventura and Walworth were slightly effaced.

"CHICKIE"

By ELENORE MEHERIN

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

THE STORY OF "CHICKIE" THUS FAR

Chickie Bryce's first romance ended disastrously. At seventeen she had created the illusion that Arthur Sontag, a school chum, was going to propose to her, but when he announced he was going away she was broken-hearted. Then Chickie's chum, Mary Burke, was married. At eighteen Chickie secured a position in a broker's office and there met Janina, a girl wise in the ways of the world. Jimmie, Mary's brother, declares his love for Chickie, but she puts him off. Chickie meets a number of men and finally goes on a party with Jake Munson and a bunch of his friends, but her father is alarmed over what he terms his girl's waywardness.

AN automobile was coming swiftly up the street. Now it was stopped—a girl and a man alighted crossing the walk—the girl walked delicately—graceful as a flower.

Tears sprung into Jennie's eyes. She said half aloud: "Ah, God be thankful" and again, "Thanks be to God"

Coming up the steps a tall, fine young man holding Chickie's hand followed Chickie's room was on the side of the little cottage. Through its ell-window the morning sun trembled in soft yellow patches over the carpet—it went shivering delicate across the mirror, taking a rosy glow from the cretonne drapes.

Chickie watched, pretending to be asleep. Jennie hadn't lost any time. Jennie would now begin her shy, queer cross-examination, sending down her questions like plummets to sound the still, mysterious depths of Chickie's heart.

Breakfast ready. Last night had been then Chickie laughed. Jennie came hurrying over to the bed and began fussing with the sugar and cream. She was agitated. All those things Jenn did and said about the smoking and that stuff like red thorns in her flesh.

Seeing this, Chickie said flippantly: "Now breakfast! What's doing, Jennie?"

"Chick, that's no way for you to talk to your mother."

Laughing "But you like it don't you, old dear?"

Over the Coffee

Mrs. Bryce pursed her lips. She got up and poured out Chickie's coffee, sat down again.

Was it Mr. Munson brought you home?"

"No. He was the host, of course. It was Mr. Dunne."

"He has a nice car, Chickie."

"Yes—but we had trouble. That's another thing delayed us."

Jennie wet her lips, drew them in and, tying to speak carelessly, brought out the trembling question in a solemn whisper: "Chickie, do you ever kiss any of these young men?"

She didn't expect that from quiet little Jennie. She parried a moment, then threw her mother a shocked look: "Mother! Why, the idea! Such a thing to say!"

"I can't imagine why you ask. Did you kiss your men? Did you ever see anyone do it?"

It was Jennie's turn to be alarmed: "Chick! Why, I'm sacred!"

"Oh, my! Ha, ha! You look it's all right to ask me."

"I just wanted to make sure," said Jennie, accepting Chickie's evasion. "Because when I was a girl things were different. We didn't own our own money. Why, my mother would have died before she would have given her daughter a latchkey. I never kissed your father till we were engaged . . . and only when he came and when he left."

Confident that the inquiry was over Chickie began to tease:

"Well don you think you're grand—I note. It seems to me you were mighty adventurous. For my part I'll say a little before I consent to swallow the whole dish!"

"Chickie, I wish you wouldn't talk like that. People may think you mean it."

Oh, ho! laughed and sprang from bed. As she dressed she leaned musing on the comb. Was her mother honest? Did she really think a kiss so shocking? Did she suppose Chickie never kissed any one? And was all that true about the girls of yesterday?

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

SOME husbands and wives suffer from matri monotony.

* * *

A woman doesn't really long for temptation—but she sometimes wishes she had the time and opportunity to "resist" a few.

* * *

The first time a man kisses a woman it is an experiment, the second time it is a conquest; the third time it is habit, or a farewell—or a bore.

Helen Rowland.

* * *

For unately, for lots of woman, most men mistake loneliness for love and marriage and habit for happiness afterward.

* * *

A man regards his wife's presence at the breakfast table as he does the presence of the sugar bowl. If they are there, he doesn't notice them; but if they are missing, he takes it as a personal injury, and howls for them.

* * *

Even a wife's love may require a spring tonic occasionally, and, just now, a little brand new sentiment even from her own husband is a wonderful stimulant to any woman's vanity.

* * *

Marriage is good for the soul; because, once you are in it, there are so many things you HAVE to do that you have no time to think of the things you ought NOT to do.

* * *

A man in love is like a sleep walker leaning for the open window or the cellar stairs. No use trying to reason with him nor to put a hard lump wie Wass him up.

* * *

At this time of the year most husbands begin to grow restless and may be tempted to wonder a good deal like wild ducks—they always come back again in the Fall—flying!

* * *

YOUR BEAUTY

A SERIES OF PRACTICAL TALKS

By Maria Jeritza

Famous Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company and One of the Most Beautiful Women of the Day

IN this strenuous age we are constantly being urged to greater activity of mind and body. We are warned not to waste time since there is much to be done and moments are precious.

We are spurred on by ambition, possibly by the desire for a "career." Busy housewives try to make time for the study of new recipes and problems in order to assume women's new responsibilities in the world.

We feel that we simply must keep active if only to remain thin. And we are earnestly admonished that laziness is a fatal foe to beauty and to charm.

There are times when a woman under the stress of all this activity may feel a little like a machine that is being wound up faster and faster. And she may wonder what the outcome will be.

The temptation to undertake more and more work, however interesting it may be, to improve one's time and one's mind, is to the point of nervous exhaustion is a subtle temptation that must not be yielded to by the woman who prizes health, usefulness, poise and beauty.

It is just as important for human beings to rest as work. All work and no play makes both Jack and Jill dull, uninteresting and irritable. Moreover it insures failure from the outset.

There are ambitious women who plan their days carefully and systematically. They fill each hour with useful activities, but make no allowances for just resting and doing nothing or for the trifling pastimes that mean relaxation to mind and body.

Such a woman may add a half before it is too late. A rime your desk with wide margins for rest and relaxation.

Eight hours for of sleep is not enough relaxation. In addition you need a certain length of time each day that you can call your own just for your favorite form of laziness.

Lounging in a negligee that you like to wear while you read a novel and nibbling bon bons sounds highly reprehensible. Yet an hour of such idling may prove your life preserver.

Another woman may find the complete rest she needs in an hour spent in a beauty shop. A shampoo one day, a manicure the next, then facial massage or a restful scalp massage all these do to health will set her and renew her youthfulness and loveliness.

A third may drink inspiration and strength through the spiritual channels she gains from an hour with her favorite author of fine philosophy. Still others of other women needs her week for sleep in her darkened, well-ventilated room.

Whatever you long for as most restful is the particular kind of relaxation you need. And if you do a busy, active woman you should have that period of rest every day, although you may not be able to measure more than half an hour for your needs.

In addition to a daily rest period you will be stronger and more beautiful possibly you may also as well for one half twenty-four hours each month, given over to absolute rest.

Why not plan to keep one day each month—may from a Saturday evening until the following Sunday evening—free from all social engagements, if not possible from all tasks. You can probably arrange this. If not, divide your monthly rest into two twelve-hour blocks of sleep.

At this time give your face the generous cold cream bath it needs. Refresh your scalp with a good hair tonic. Let your hair down. Sweep all worry from your mind. Then sleep your fill, whether that means ten, twelve or twenty hours.

All this sounds like the extreme of selfishness. Yet I assure you you will emerge from the day and month refreshed with a new an and a new appetite for work that will be a far greater accomplishment than you could have dreamed possible.

Next week I'll tell you the experience as refreshing to your beauty as a Summer shower is to a parched garden.

When the INDICAN Shows ---Beware

CONSTIPATION means danger. Not because it makes your head ache. Nor because it makes your breath foul, your taste bad and stomach bilious. And not because it ages your complexion. The danger in constipation is the poison it starts physicians. This poison is permeating into every little muscle and every little joint in your body. Be warned!

Do you dare to make a test to prove this? Then, out of four constipated men and women under age, just above the INDICAN and [illegible] in the sign doctors look for to find out if your blood is red.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are [illegible] laxatives [illegible] prevail [illegible] of the pill and [illegible] quickly [illegible] down the INDICAN away.

Make This Test. Have an analysis made of your specimens, and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN, as if you can "feel" how poisoned you are because of headaches, sallow complexion, nervousness and bad stomach—immediately start using Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Same person, after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—notice the clean, normal specimen—FREE FROM INDICAN.

Next have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. Constipation, free from pimples and blotches, means back your KAY Beauty.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills used for 47 years by millions of people all over the World. is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no [illegible] of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way. And is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

Where the Popes Dwelt in the Fourteenth Century

NODDING nestle in the warm Provençal sun are Avignon a bit city of the south of France and Vaucluse, as tourists have been heard of in the peace and the place from which the history of world was ruled for nearly a century.

Avignon lies on the left bank of the Rhone about 200 miles south of Lyons and forty miles north of Marseilles. Its chief attraction today is the palace of the popes. From 1309 to 1377 the city of Avignon, not Rome, was the seat of the papacy, and after the last pope returned to Rome a claimant to the position of pope ruled in Avignon until 1409, creating a great schism in the Catholic Church a century before the revolt of Martin Luther.

Rome was at its lowest ebb as a city about the year 1305. Civil war and treasons had almost completely destroyed the former grandeur of the world. When Clement V was made pope he feared to go to Rome because of its turmoil and the season of pestilence. Then Avignon, then a town of 5000 people, offered them Frankish hospitality, built the huge palace which stands. During the exile of the popes from Rome the college of cardinals became almost completely French, and all the popes were French. The King of France was continually endeavoring to make the popes subservient to him and it was this will is caused Gregory IX. to decide to return to Rome.

The French King objected so strenuously to the popes' departure that he persuaded some of the cardinals to declare it illegal. These elected popes who continued to reside in Avignon. Thus for thirty years there were two popes demanding obedience from the Christian world.

Even when the last of these Popes Benedict XIII., was expelled from Avignon, the French withheld their allegiance to the Pope of Rome for a while.

The city remained part of the temporal possessions of the popes until 1791, when the Pope in power, Innocents took possession of it and made it a part of the Vaucluse section.

During the ... the papal palace was used as a ... its use for this purpose ... damaged by ... fires. Today it is maintained ... the French government.

ABOUT the only old-fashioned enjoyment the women ... have is the "sewing circle." They get together once a week ... their husbands ... and talk about the members who aren't there.

WHEN a housewife spends two or three hours for a luncheon for the ladies she expects to get her money's worth.

THE scandal you hear may not be true, but it's worth listening to just the same.

WOMEN who ... business are not very popular in the average club.

IF you don't know ... to tell about a person you must use your imagination.

THE average man will ... he doesn't like gossip, but nine times out of ten he won't ... from the house until he's heard every word of it.

SO, men if you want to find out something about your neighbor don't hire a private detective, just get your wife join a sewing circle.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan

The Ex-Maid Servant Who Captivated the Great Nelson.

THE woman who uses her beauty as a ladder upon which to climb to success is considered a somewhat modern institution.

In the annals of the current day she is put down as a product of that keen competition for success in business, the professions and arts which has sprung up between men and women with the feminine entry into the game of earning a livelihood.

It's a matter of all being fair in love and money making, according to the amended theory.

As a matter of record, however, the woman who calculatingly uses her charm to influence the men she meets to assist her on her way to achievement is by no means new.

Throughout the history of feminine sex she has figured in some degree. But it was during the last of the seventeen hundreds that she came to the fore as a startling example of what may be accomplished by cool exploitation of personal attraction.

Her name became Lady Emma Hamilton in the course of her career. But she started out as the daughter of a poverty-stricken peasant woman, and she herself was a servant at the age of thirteen.

Ambition clutched her before she had been on her own for long. She sought to better herself by forsaking the country and moving to London, where she found employment as a maid in an inn.

He it was Charles Upton began to see in that she was beautiful and that she was natural, artful and that a figure like hers if she took advantage of opportunity.

Accordingly, when she chanced to meet Charles Greville she lost no time in throwing about him the toils of infatuation. But he was merely a step to something more portentous in the life of the girl, Emma. Through him she met his uncle, Sir William Hamilton, Ambassador to Naples and so adroit had she become with practice that she found little difficulty in capturing the imagination and the sexual affection of the nobleman.

He married her subsequently moved with her to Naples and introduced her to the Queen of the Italian city. Emma carried on the campaign for her own welfare by using her charm to influence the Queen.

When she was at the height of her power she added to her list the name of Admiral Nelson, victor at Aboukir Bay, the battle off Copenhagen, and Trafalgar. Upon the death of Sir William Hamilton, Lord Nelson installed her in a country seat in England, where she resided until the death of her protector.

Then with fifty years crowding decay upon her and her one claim to power—her beauty fast fading—she was reduced to poverty and thrown upon her own resources. Until she was 47 she managed to live with the world she died in misery in 1815, at the ... of fifty-four.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What is the proper thing for a girl fourteen years old to do and say when introduced to a lady or a gentleman?

Your suggestion on this important point of etiquette will be greatly appreciated.

V. M.

ANSWER: The etiquette for girls of your age is practically what it is for older people, except perhaps you have to be even more alert in the things that you do or say. When you are introduced to an older lady you should bow your head slightly, smile pleasantly and cordially, and say, "How do you do Mrs. Smith?" If Mrs. Smith offers to shake hands with you, shake her hand in a friendly manner (not limp with a "loose" handshake). When a gentleman is introduced to you (and a gentleman is always introduced as "presented" to a lady) even such a young lady as you, you do exactly as I have suggested you do in being introduced to a lady. The best phrase to use always in introductions is, "How do you do?" For a girl of fourteen it is better always to repeat the name, too.

ONE-TUBE SET THAT DOESN'T RADIATE

Does Not Interfere With Your Neighbors, but Has Plenty of Kick

The tri-coil reflex circuit described in this article has a number of points of superiority over the average regenerative circuit. If you are interested in experimenting with a good circuit, try this one.

The reflex receiver does not radiate energy from the antenna circuit and for this reason alone the circuit is worth careful consideration from the experimenter. In addition, the simple tube reflex circuit is much more efficient than the average one tube circuit due to the fact that the tube is used as a radio frequency, and an audio frequency amplifier.

This fact gives a much greater volume from the circuit than is possible with an ordinary detector alone, but the volume will not quite equal the results that would be obtained from using three tubes.

VALUE OF CRYSTAL.

Quality of reproduction is excellent due to the crystal detector used. The frequent distortion in a regenerative receiver is absent and the quality approaches that of the crystal receiver.

This circuit, when properly constructed and operated, and made with first class material is quite capable of operating a loud speaker on local signals when using only an average antenna. Not only that, but the selectivity is excellent and long distance stations are easily tuned in.

The connections for this circuit are clearly shown in the picture diagram in such a manner that even the novice may easily understand. If you wish to assemble the apparatus on a panel all that is necessary is to follow out the connections between the various units as shown by the diagram. All parts are marked with the exception of the batteries and the value of the rheostat. The battery marked "B" can be forty-five volts, and the battery marked "A" must correspond with the type of tube you are going to use.

For use with the WD-11 or 12 tubes a single volt and a half dry cell with a six ohm rheostat will be satisfactory. If the UV-199 or C-299 tube is to be used a 40-ohm rheostat and three dry cells connected in series will be necessary. Four dry cells in series or preferably a storage battery with a 25-ohm rheostat will work for the UV-201-A or C-301-A tube.

HARD TUBES BEST.

Hard or amplifier tubes work best. The UV-201 and C-301 tubes work very satisfactorily with proper rheostats. Detector tubes will not give satisfaction due to the fact that when the "B" battery potential cannot be supplied without causing the tube to paralyze. The correct amount of "B" battery to use with this circuit will depend altogether on the particular tube you are using. It is often possible to use as high as 90 volts with good results.

Make all connections as short and direct as possible and see that all apparatus is arranged with this end in view. If the circuit does not appear to operate properly try reversing the connections on the radio frequency transformer. In some cases it works advantageously to try reversing the antenna and ground connections, especially when using a small antenna.

Use the best material obtainable if you wish to secure best results. This applies especially to the transformers and the crystal.

"GOBS" HAVE RADIO ALARM CLOCK NOW

At the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, where radio operators are trained, the new and unique method of increasing speed in code reception while the partly trained "Gobs" sleep, is being used with as great success as met the initial sleep instruction tests at Pensacola.

One hour after sending and high speed to seventeen sleeping embryo operators, equipped in "scramble," a petty officer rapped his wrist with the code message: "Hey, Gobs, get up. It's five-fifty-five."

Much to his surprise, the snoring ceased, three of the men awoke and in a few minutes the other fourteen rolled out, asking what was the matter. The flabbergasted petty officer now admits night code may increase night speed, but he knows it will get the students up at four bells.

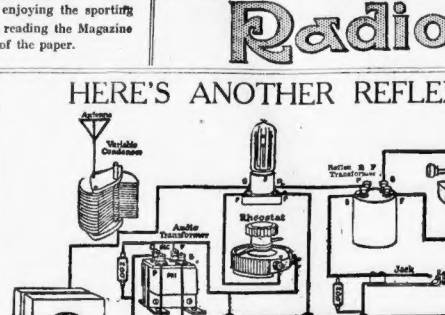
LOOK OUT FOR LOW B BATTERIES

B batteries need watching. Several American Super owners who have had ill luck with their sets ultimately located the trouble in dead B batteries. A few declared they had only recently purchased the batteries, but test with a voltmeter showed them to be far below the standard. Others said their batteries gave a good spark when short-circuited. This is no indication of the voltage, and in addition is poor treatment for the batteries. The Super, with four tubes, uses more juice from a B battery than a single tube set.

BOSTON COLLEGE NIGHT TOMORROW

Boston College will go on the air tomorrow night from WNAC the Shepard Stores station. From 8:00 to 10:00 the boys on the "Hill" will present a varied musical program, with not a dull moment in it. B. C. graduates everywhere are invited to listen in.

HERE'S ANOTHER REFLEX



SINGLE TUBE REFLEX RECEIVER

This circuit, known as the tri-coil reflex has become very popular recently in Chicago. One tube serves for both radio and audio-frequency amplification, while a crystal is used for rectification. Good distance work, and loud speaker reception for local stations have been secured on it.

HINTS ON HOW TO IMPROVE ANTENNA

Westinghouse Expert Says the Horizontal Type Will Produce the Best Results

"The element of the antenna which determines its ability to pick up or give off signals in its effective height," according to Frank Conrad, assistant chief engineer, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company.

"The term effective height does not mean the height from the ground connection to its topmost point, but is more nearly the average height from ground connection to the centre of its exposed area.

"For an antenna consisting only of a straight vertical wire the effective height is about two-thirds its actual height, while for an antenna having a large horizontal top the ratio of the effective height is very nearly the actual height.

"When a regenerative vacuum tube receiver is used the extent to which the signal can be built up by regeneration is independent of the antenna height if all parts of the antenna are equally exposed to the oncoming signal.

"However, the amount of interference which is picked up will be proportionate to the height, and we must, therefore, endeavor to select a location which will permit of minimum height.

30 FEET IN CITIES.

"As the lower part of the antenna will usually be more or less shielded it is necessary to make some compromise between signal strength and selectivity. For installation in cities a height of 30 feet with a horizontal top of the same length will usually be found ample for reception of distant signals.

"For use when interference is slight or in country districts the height may be increased to 30 feet. It is of course, necessary to use strictly local reception an indoor antenna will be used.

"It is unnecessary to use more than one wire for any part of the antenna and the size of this wire is unimportant. It should be well insulated at the support points and be spaced as far as possible from conducting objects.

"The outer end of the top wire is attached to a tree, a break insulator is placed in the wire well outside the branches. This top wire should not be over or near any objects such as metal roof, as the effective height of the antenna will probably be about the same height of this top wire above the metal roof.

STEAM PIPE GROUND.

"If a supporting structure is available, a straight vertical wire without any horizontal part will be satisfactory, or it may extend in a diagonal direction from the side of the building near the receiving set to a point some 20 or 30 feet above an adjoining building or other support with clear space between.

"For the best results the ground connection should be made to some conducting area on about the same level as the receiver. A steam or hot water system gives a good ground connection.

"Avoid a long ground wire, as this gives height and lack of selectivity without corresponding additional strength. This is an important point when the receiver is installed in an upper floor of a building such as an apartment. In this latter case the piping system of the building will furnish a good ground.

"Never run a separate wire down to the ground floor. The wires from antenna and ground where they approach the receiver should be separated as much as possible and the receiver should be placed as near as possible to the point where the antenna wire enters the building.

TO NEAREST PART.

"The ground connection should be made to the nearest part of the conducting system, which is to form the ground, and it is often an advantage to connect to more than one conducting system as the heating and water or gas pipes.

"If your receiving set is not giving the results you think it should, look over your antenna structure to see how it meets the conditions outlined. Thus it is possible that by a change in the height you can obtain the selectivity desired or by a change in its location you can improve the strength of signals from distant stations."

TODD PREDICTS INTERFERENCE FROM SUN

Believes Outbreak of Spots Will Cause Bad Aurora Displays

West Chester, Pa., Feb. 26.—Serious interference with telegraphic and radio communication is predicted by Dr. David Todd, professor emeritus of Amherst College, in a statement in which he announced the discovery of a new outbreak of "sun spots."

The area affected, according to Dr. Todd, is about 45,000 miles in extent and the largest spot is about 9,600 miles in diameter. He believes the outbreak to be the beginning of a "sun spot period," with auroral displays and consequent difficulty in electric and radio transmission.

RADIO CORP. TO PAY 7 P. C. DIVIDEND

"The Radio Corporation will this year pay the 7 per cent. dividend on its preferred stock, which is cumulative from January 1, 1924.

"It is anticipated that at the meeting of the stockholders to be held in May, the charter of the corporation will be amended so as to reduce the number of shares of authorized preferred stock from 8,000,000 to 500,000, and authorized in lieu thereof common stock from 7,500,000 to 1,500,000 shares.

The Listener

Jazz hounds are sore put to it Sunday nights to pick up their favorite form of entertainment. Most stations are broadcasting either church services or classical music programs. But if you can tune in WHN, Loew's station in New York, you can be sure of hearing a saxophone moan or a banjo thump some time during the evening.

For genuine surprises "Roxy" at the Capitol Theatre, Station WEAF, has a prize. You never know when Roxy is going to present next. Sunday night while listening to the usual Roxy unit put over by Roxy and his "gang," who should "bust" in but our old favorite of musical comedy, Ma Perkins. It was good to hear her and when she recited her famous "Hook and Eye" poem, it carried one back to other days.

The added power at WRZ may bring forth many a Sunday night. Sunday night when it was first turned on the station came through on my old regenerative set like the proverbial hot knife through butter, apparently broadened the wave for I could hear it on five graduations of the dial on either side of the highest point. Wait until some night when you are listening to a fine concert and WRZ comes crashing through. Wow!

President Coolidge has one of the best radio voices of any speaker I have yet heard over the air. But he will have to resort to the use of a microphone soon unless the owners of regenerative sets buy new watchcs. I tuned in to WJAR Friday night forth hours after he had walking for the President to appear. He was scheduled for ten o'clock. On the dot at ten I could hear speaking. Also on the dot of ten it seemed as though I was going to hear him unscrewing. About two minutes after it seemed as though every regenerative set owner in Greater Boston was tuning in. Never have I heard such squeals and howls since radio began. It kept up until the President had finished his address, practically equaling a greater part of it. Why these pests could not have tuned in a minute early is more than I can understand. Perhaps it was a fault of their collective watches.

Speaking of slogans and other means of identifying various stations, WMAS, Louisville, signs off every night with "My Old Kentucky Home," played on a set of soft-toned orchestra bells.

WQAM, at Miami, has something to offer that is decidedly unusual. The other night I listened in on a late program from that speaking station. When it was over the announcer broke the news that the ocean was in the Winter home of a millionaire, and that he not only played the organ, but paid for the privilege of connecting his home with the station.

WGY ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM TONIGHT

This week marks the second anniversary of the opening of WGY, the General Electric Company broadcasting station at Schenectady. This evening an anniversary program will be offered beginning at 6:30 and continuing until 11. Old favorites of WGY audiences will be heard.

Among the features will be the Rice String Quartet, the WGY Light Opera Company, Romano's Dance Orchestra, Dr. Sigel Roush in a travelogue, and the WGY Players. The players will produce Eugene Walter's play, "The Wolf." This was the first play to be put in the air by any station.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio receiving conditions tonight from all broadcasting stations along the Atlantic seaboard will be good. Stations in the West and Middle West are not expected to tune in so well.

'DICK' SEARS TO TELL OF NEWS PHOTO STUNTS

Photographer and Hutchins, Dean of Reporters, at WNAC Tonight

Some more inside information on how a daily newspaper is operated will be broadcast tonight along with the weekly concert of the Boston American Band from WNAC, the Shepard Stores station.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY, Boston Health Commissioner.

TRACHOMA, otherwise known as Egyptian Ophthalmia, is one of the oldest diseases on record.

It is an affection of the eyes, but the causative organism has never been discovered, although scientists have long made an effort to isolate it.

Dr. Mahoney.

The history of the disease shows that in cases where it has apparently entirely disappeared, it still remains latent and is dangerous to others.

No one dies from trachoma, but many of those who suffer from the disease eventually become blind.

Trachoma was undoubtedly brought to this country from Europe. In one country cases found in the army were sent home to rid the army of any chance of infection, but the disease spread in the districts where the discharged soldiers lived. It has been stated that in Egypt 90 per cent. of the population has trachoma.

The records of this government show that most of the trachoma now found is derived from aliens coming from Southern Europe, but trachoma was also found in the influx of immigrants was coming from Northern Europe.

Although usually found in cities along the Atlantic seaboard, trachoma is prevalent in Virginia, West Virginia, Southern Illinois, Arkansas and the mountains of Southern Missouri. Years ago it was found among the Appalachian Highlanders and Indians.

In Kentucky it is estimated that there are 33,000 cases. Among the 20,000 Indians in this country, 20 per cent. are afflicted.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Have been patiently awaiting an article concerning tuberculous tracheal lymphomic gut, as my husband is afflicted with tuberculosis. MRS. T. H. O'B.

I do not recall having such a previous article. The best treatment for tuberculosis is the advice of your physician, if the patient can be treated promptly at home, or sanatorium treatment if he is a bed case.

My hair seems very greasy, keeps coming out, and is getting very thin, so much troubled with dandruff. J. M.

My baby was premature at birth on August 15, 1923, when she weighed 5½ pounds and was 18 inches long. She was born with a navel rupture, which got well, after being strapped at the Infant Hospital five months. A doctor gave her to-day an operation which left her with quite an enlarged abdomen. I feed her now on Mellin's milk mixed with oatmeal gruel and she is gaining rapidly. MRS. A. A. C.

I gave baby's case above your letter and she is feeling well on present feeding, do not worry. The abdomen will gradually become normal. You will receive a booklet on "The Baby and You" in the mail.

I am troubled with pains in both sides and have been in the hospital with them. The doctor advised waiting before I went under an operation, but it seems that the pains get worse and I am getting very nervous. MRS. J. C. F.

Your question is somewhat ambiguous. We generally advise a visit where the pains are located in your sides before I can advise you.

BOSTON JEWS FILE PROTEST ON ALIEN BILL

Washington, Feb. 26.—A delegation of the Associated Jewish Societies of Massachusetts today laid a protest against the Johnson Immigration Bill before the House Committees. They said that under the quota plan Jewish immigrants are grouped with nationalities which have low percentages of naturalization, and suggested instead that quotas be computed upon the racial ratios of American Army in the World War.

E. D. Stone

The delegation was headed by Eliha D. Stone. Among others who were William J. Dana, Joseph Talamo, Bennett Silverblatt, Judge Jacob Asher, George E. Gordon, Elihu Hershman, Mrs. Benjamin Benjamin, David R. Radovsky, Harry Ehrlich, S. Jonas, Morris

Judge David A. Albert Hurwitz Lourie

DEATH COMES TO C. RANDOLPH CHESTER

New York, Feb. 26.—George Randolph Chester, author and playwright, died here today.

Mr. Chester left his Ohio home at an early age and engaged in various occupations. Beginning newspaper work as a reporter on the Detroit News, he rose to become one of the nation's most popular writers of fiction. "Get-Rich-Quick" Wallingford and "Blackie Daw" were two of his most famous fictional characters. He wrote a number of books and plays in collaboration with his wife, Lillian Chester. He was fifty-five years old.

Mr. Chester had just taken out $100,000 life insurance, and the doctors told him he was good for fifty years more.

SEES STABLE COAL PRICE FOR 3 YEARS

Washington, Feb. 26.—The Jacksonville agreement fixing bituminous coal prices and operations in the three-year working contract was described by Secretary Hoover today as the "most constructive thing done in the bituminous industry in years." He predicted that bituminous prices during the life of the contract would remain practically stable and said he believed the range would be from $2.20 to $2.50 per ton at the mine.

NAMES H. C. MAN BUREAU REGISTRAR

Worcester, Feb. 26.—George T. Breen, Holy Cross '22, a student at Northeastern College here, received notice here today that he had been appointed chief recorder in the bureau of education of the National Catholic Welf. re Council in Washington. He will begin his new duties Saturday. At Holy Cross he was a prominent debater and athlete.

Mrs. Slattery's words have a depth of meaning. Can anyone doubt the importance of the American Home? As an institution is not the Home the World over the greatest of them all? To which other institution can more of good or evil be directly or indirectly attributed? If a concrete movement could be launched (sponsored by women) for the betterment of the Home, future generations would surpass all expectations toward world peace, christianity, and a high moral standard all of which the world greatly needs today.

It is simply wonderful to think any woman would outspokeningly mention the facts that Mrs. Slattery mentioned. Her remarks with reference to women entering the fields of industry and politics are positively true. Much more than the vote does a woman need or want to accomplish any greatest goal in any public manner?

One very unfortunate condition exists today however, which makes real Home Making a difficult problem. This condition is chiefly rentals and property conditions.

One of the greatest of all accomplishments would be to get the American Home on a proper value basis. This makes marriage too serious a proposition and Homes a secondary consideration. Is it not possible for the women like Mrs. Slattery by concerted actions to bring about more favorable conditions? Once this is done the Home will come back to its rightful position of grave importance to all humanity.

THE HELPING HAND

if some reader can let me have some sleeping garments for him. He also has to have slippers 7 or 7½ size. I don't know what size would be right for sleeping garments, but he takes 16½ shirts. I wish someone would give me a warm dress and coat as that I could try to see my husband when he goes to the hospital. Size 40. The children are boys 12 and 6½, and girls 9 and 4, and the baby, 10 months. We have been sleeping with old coats and covers on the bed. We don't get enough to eat half the time, but Sister at the school is very good to the little ones in regard to giving them a meal once in a while. If anything is done for us we will more than appreciate it.

MRS. G. P.

Things to Give

Editor Helping Hand:

I have the following things which I would like to give to someone who can use them: One Winter suit with fur collar, size 34, two silk blouses, size 34, one sweater that would fit a girl twelve or fourteen, three petticoats, one pair of low shoes and one pair of high shoes, size 4, and one pair of stockings.

MRS. R. H.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. M. C., who wears the sizes you offer. Her husband has been out of work and she has been unable to take her little baby out, as she has no outer garments to wear.

Mackinaw for Boy

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a mackinaw and Winter cap which I will gladly give to a boy around fourteen years old, if he will call any night after 5 o'clock. I am a stranger around here and would not be able to deliver it personally. I will gladly pay fares both ways on the Elevated. MRS. I. B. L.

Many thanks. You have been sent the address of Mrs. E. F. J., and we have asked her to have her oldest boy call as you suggest.

Real Helping Hand

Editor Helping Hand:

If you will please send me the address of Mrs. W. C. S. I think some of the things her sixteen-year-old sister could use. You are doing a great work and lots of good you don't know of probably. Through your column I got in touch with Mrs. H. M. P. and gave her clothes for her baby. For the past week I have had her baby and mother in my home. A valuable home with me while she was in the hospital. I don't know what would have become of the baby, and he was a dear. It was all due to your column.

MRS. L. T. L.

It did our heart good to hear of your extending this real helping hand. We are only the humble means, the real kindliness came from you.

Generous Offers

The editor wishes to express her sincere thanks to the following people for their generous offers of assistance to those whose appeals have been published in this column. They have been sent the addresses requested:

SAYS OXYGEN SNIFF CURES SEASICKNESS

Paris, Feb. 26.—Ocean liners may be expected to carry oxygen tanks as unfailingly as life belts, if the announcement of Professor Emile Dubois of the physiological laboratory at Tamaris-Sur-Mer is accepted. The professor says that a sniff or two of oxygen cures both seasickness and mountain sickness.

What Is Insanity?

If All the More or Less Insane Were Locked Up, How Many Would Be at Liberty?

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

Many murderers continue to seek refuge from the electric chair in the insane asylum. Denying nothing, they tell how they shot or poisoned their victims, and the lawyer for each one hopes that the jurors, in face of such cold-blooded admissions, will say to themselves: "This man is crazy. Such villainy, such cold-blooded cruelty could not be part of a sane man."

But, we may ask, with interest, WHAT IS INSANITY?

Briefly, insanity describes the mind working abnormally, not according to rules that govern the majority of human beings.

But who will give an exact definition as to WHEN A MAN IS INSANE and WHEN HE IS SANE?

If you read of a man dead of starvation, lying on a miserable straw mattress, with thousands of dollars stored away under the mattress, you say, "Miser."

What IS the exact difference?

Suppose that in an insane asylum you heard a wild-eyed man saying:

"It is as though the dead could feel the icy worm around them steal, and shudder as the reptiles creep to revel o'er their rotten sleep without the power to scare away those cold consumers of their clay."

You would say, "That's a very dangerous mad-man. Why don't you put a strait-jacket on him?"

But if you were told that it was a visiting doctor, trying to soothe the patient by the lines in which Byron describes the sensation of a man who has just lost the lady that pleased him, you would say, "Nice doctor; what a good memory he has; nice poem."

Lombroso describes a man in a public institution seizing an axe and chopping off his left hand. The man was not insane; he wanted whiskey, and knew that the doctors would give it to him to revive him; stimulate his heart. He wanted whiskey for a moment more than he wanted his left hand for the rest of his life; more than he wanted to avoid pain, and possible death. If the man had been drunk at the time, which he was not, it would have been called "alcoholic insanity." It was simply an INTENSE DESIRE OF ONE KIND overshadowing and controlling all other emotion.

Be sure that there exists in this universe, on higher planets, great intelligences to which all of us poor creatures would seem insane, hopeless idiots.

What would real intelligence think of us, with our minds centred on this little grain of earth that we inhabit, thinking rarely if ever of the real universe; concentrated on our selfish interests, scarcely ever asking whence we came, whither we are going, or why we are here?

Suppose one of our "alienists," a specialist in insanity, should see out in the ocean a raft, crowded with human beings, singing, dancing, cheating each other, starving each other, borrowing, trading—not one of them asking how he GOT on the raft, or where the raft was GOING, or what would happen sooner or later?

The alienist would say, "Some cruel person has loaded the raft with mad men and women, and set it adrift."

Our earth is just that kind of a raft, and we travelers argue about sanity and insanity—and know very little about it. He who calls himself sane may be insane, and vice versa.

"He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it."—St. Matthew x., 39.

A man goes almost to certain death because he wants to discover the North Pole—HE is a hero.

A man walks off the edge of a roof to prove that he can fly with a pair of wings that he has made—HE is crazy.

Another poor creature sits on top of a high column, starves himself, lives in horrible filth—HE is praised to the sky and made a saint.

A difficult question, "WHAT IS INSANITY?"

WHAT IS INTELLIGENCE?

What is "IT" that "KNOWS," that lives within us, that distinguishes right from wrong, that controls the impulses of the animals from which we descend?

Insanity is the working of a mental machine out of order, no matter WHAT THE DISORDER MAY BE, WHETHER IT BE THE MILD INSANITY OF THE SPENDTHRIFT, OR OF THE MISER, OR THE MURDERER'S INSANITY THAT KILLS.

What is INTELLIGENCE, what is that power on this earth, invisible, not understood, that consciousness, knowledge, intelligence, soul, whatever you may call it, that applies FORCE to MATTER and organizes this earth?

That is a study worth while. If you have not read a good book on the construction and functions of the human brain, you have failed to interest yourself in the most marvelous machinery existing on this earth.

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- By ELSIE ROBINSON

I'D like to tack an amendment on this "Stop, Look and Listen" slogan which is so popular with our leading citizens. I don't deny the wisdom of that slogan. It's wholesome and essential. But there isn't enough of it. It should read:

"Stop! Look! Listen!
AND THEN FOR THE LUVVA MIKE GO AHEAD!"

Any clam can stop, look and listen. In fact, stopping, looking and listening is one of the best things clams do. But why be a clam? No, I'm not making a joke of this matter. I am framing this as a serious protest against the Stand Pat element of American Society. These Prudent Percys claim to be saving this country. Their method of saving it is to clamp the country in one fixed position and stay there. If you ask them to budge they point horrified hands at the possible danger ahead. Now no sane soul will deny that there is danger ahead. Something is apt to come along and bump you to pieces if you move. BUT IT IS BETTER TO BE BUMPED TO PIECES WHILE IN ACTION THAN TO DROP TO PIECES WHILE STANDING STILL. As sure as you persist in standing still, you will drop to pieces. For Life must move, or it ceases to be Life.

Ever since the world began there have been two classes of living things—those that clung to the Old and those that reached out to the New. The creatures who clung to the Old have always been rated as Respectable and accorded the best seats in town meeting. The folks who reached out to the New have inevitably met with sneers and frowns and spent most of their lives in hot water. Why is this? Is it because conservatism is wiser and holier? The conservatives think it is—but it isn't. No, the Stand-Patters have always won the applause because it's so much easier to stand pat than it is to go ahead. Humanity loves the easy, safe plan. It loves it so much that it invests the safe plan with the aura of sanctity and frowns on any plan that may possibly lead to trouble. Hence it has come that we look with respect on the human clam who roots himself firmly in the mud and warns us to "stop, look and listen."

As a matter of fact, such a person usually deserves no more credit than if he were quoting Mother Goose rhymes. There is nothing original in his utterance, it involves no mature thought, no tempering of spirit. But systematically applied it will keep you out of jail. Therefore, it appeals to that large element of society who like to play safe and look wise.

But the world owes all its progress to the folks who risked danger and looked foolish. Very often these leaders stopped, looked and listened to the omens of their time. But invariably they went ahead after they had done so, risking whatever unknown danger lay ahead, facing the weariness and disrepute that fall upon travelers of the trail, but GETTING SOMEWHERE AT LAST.

Asks Aid for Aunt

Editor Helping Hand:

I wrote to you some time ago and I got some clothes for myself, and I want to thank you and the good people who helped me. Nobody helped my poor auntie. She has not a thing to wear and we have no fire, so she is cold all the time. If some kind lady had some clothes she did not want, would she please send them to my auntie. She takes size 38. She can't work because she is not well. We are very poor. Her husband is dead and so are my parents. She is so kind to me and I love her so much. I am a little girl eight years old.

MARGARET W.

What a Little Girl Got

Editor Helping Hand:

I wrote you a letter to thank you and to tell you who were the kind ladies who sent me such nice things. Now I can go to kindergarten and the girls won't laugh at my clothes any more. I got three, oh, lovely little new dresses, all made so pretty, with embroidered flowers on them, some picture books, a bag of candy and some crayons. Also two nice, brand new pairs of stockings and—what do you think—a Valentine. I am so glad I wrote and asked you to help me get some nice clothes. VIVIE.

Vet in Rags

Editor Helping Hand:

Can you find some one to help this poor family? The father is a World War vet and has not worked all Winter. He is wearing a suit that is all rags. If you can find someone to help them I am sure they will never be forgotten. His size is 38, and his wife takes 44. He has two little boys, aged four and six.

H. M. S.

A Generous List

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me the address of anyone who can use the following articles: Two women's Winter coats, size 36-38; one woman's blue serge dress; one woman's suit; one man's Fall overcoat (small size, 36 or 38); several odd pieces of man's clothing, same size. Also several pairs of women's shoes, average size 5½, and one pair of women's overshoes, size 6½. Hope these will be of some help.

MRS. C. W. S.

Thank you for your generous list. You have been sent the addresses of Mrs. K. D., a widow, who is an invalid, and of Mrs. E. S., who is so badly off that her husband has no overcoat and has been wearing khaki pants this cold weather.

Appeals for Husband

Editor Helping Hand:

I am making another appeal through your wonderful column. My husband has not done a day's work since September. He was operated on in November and now is going to the hospital on Friday to be operated on again. He has to have sleeping garments of his own. He has none. I wonder

DR. FRANK CRANE ON THE REMOVAL OF WASTE

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE universe is a thing of life.

Life means growth, and growth means constant change.

And in the processes of life the destroyers are as necessary as the builders.

Death, decay and removal are as essential to the operation of growth as birth and sustenance.

With this fact in mind, we perceive that decomposition is just as pure as growth.

The disgusting carrion that rots by the roadside offends us. Nature makes it offensive because she wishes to keep us away from it. That is, she is building, and in decomposition she is carrying on her business of wreckage and she does not want us to meddle.

And the removal of waste is quite as necessary as the procuring of food. In fact, most of our diseases come from interference with the sewage system.

It is the same way in the intellectual life. The pessimists, the deniers, the doubters and the scorners might be called the kidneys of the social organism.

Also a man's failures are as useful in rounding out his life as his successes. Our chagrins, disappointments and disillusions are as sanitary to the soul as our joys and loves.

That is why we are offended by those whose natures are a continual blaze of sunshine and have no redeeming shadows.

We are not put in this world to be happy. We are put here to be great. And suffering and failure are the meat upon which greatness feeds. Nobleness of character, the glow of genius and the beauty of holiness are but the light from souls that are burning.

"This earth," says Anatole France, "is but a grain of sand in the infinite desert of worlds, but if only upon this planet suffering exists, it is greater than all the rest together What do I say? It is all; the rest are nothing."

Billions of insects and microbes are constantly at work removing the debris of the human race, keeping the earth fertile, the streams clean and the waters pure.

In every society, customs grow rank and pernicious and institutions become old and septic, and the army of wreckers must remove them.

And in the individual soul the perfection of character and the right apprehension of ourselves and of the universe depend upon a continual demolition of old huts of belief and discarded enthusiasms that have become unsanitary.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON BIRDS AND SERPENTS

ONE of the clearest stories of evolution is that told by the emergence of the birds out of the reptilian race. This is another fact of science which some persons are indisposed to accept because it offends their sensibilities. Birds are mostly beautiful, often splendid in their beauty of form, gracefulness of motion, and brilliance and harmony of color. Reptiles, on the contrary, are mostly repellant creatures in form, color and motion. Yet, the fact remains that the first birds were toothed and winged reptiles.

The book of the rocks, which cannot lie, records this truth over and over again. The bird was not a wholly new creation; it was an adaptation.

The oldest known bird is the archaeopterix (earliest winged creature), which lived in the Jurassic period. That's a great many million years ago. How far back of its time reptiles began to have wings we do not know. Neither do we know just what influences developed the wing-growing tendency or capacity in the reptilian race.

The wings came before the teeth were dropped. Whether the archaeopterix learned to fly in order to escape from more powerful reptiles or in order to chase more successfully its own victims we do not know; but, at any rate, it retained its teeth, either for defence or offense, and toothed jaws, of which the archaeopterix supplied by no means the only example, remained for a long age fashionable in the newly established avian kingdom.

When reptiles conquered the air by evolving into birds, they set an example which man has at last followed by developing his form, thus getting wings of his own handiwork. The lower animals never have been able thus to obtain the fruits of evolution without themselves evolving into new forms.

It is evident that reptiles had bird-like feet anad legs before any of them had wings. Many of the great dinosaurs walked about on two three-toed feet at the end of long legs, and the prints of their gigantic toes and heels in the sandstones of the Connecticut valley were at first supposed to have been made by huge antediluvian birds.

Very lately two interesting facts bearing upon the origin of birds from reptiles have been brought to light. The first of these discoveries is that of reptilian eggs, decidedly bird-like in many ways, found with the skeletons of giant dinosaurs in Central Asia. The second is the finding by Dr. W. T. Lee, of the U. S. Geological Survey of what are believed to be gizzard stones among fossil dinosaur bones in Wyoming.

Some of these stones are less than an inch in diameter, and others exceed three inches. They might be thought to attest the good taste of the dinosaurs, since they are not cheap stones, but polished quartz and agate. Moreover, they are not such stones as belong to the geological formation in which they and the dinosaur bones were found. They must have been brought there.

There is not, perhaps, as great certainty about the assumed connection of these stones with the dinosaurs as there is in the case of the eggs, but, in a manner, each discovery tends to support the other. Large birds have the well-known habit of grinding their food with pebbles carried in the gizzard.

Considering the many other established relationships and similitudes between birds and reptiles, it is quite in order that the ancestral race should have possessed this peculiarity and have handed it on to the derivitive one. Since the Wyoming dinosaurs, according to Dr. Lee, were much bigger than elephants, they might need gizzard stones bearing a suitable proportion to their own bulk.
